Janna Johnson, senior West Texas State University student from Canyon, begins the steep climb up the hill behind the goal posts in Kimbrough Memorial Stadium Monday. Allen Velo, senior from El Paso, is already atop the hill and preparing for a ski run down. The two students decided to take advantage of Canyon's mid-week snow to get in some skiing without having to drive to the mountains of New Mexico. The snow melted Thursday afternoon.

Developer won't ask Amarillo annexation

The first large-scale developer to announce plans to develop a large section of land southwest of Amarillo said last week his firm does not plan to seek annexation to the Amarillo School District.

Wilton G. White, president of Panhandle Savings and Loan Association of Amarillo, said Thursday his firm is aware the site of a proposed $30 million development southwest of that city is in the Canyon Independent School District.

And, he said, "we're pleased with it."

White, who announced plans for development of a 300-acre tract on the northwest corner at the intersection of Bell and Arden in Amarillo, said he feels the Canyon district is "a good one."

"We're not going to make a move to have it connected to the Amarillo School District," he said. "And, that doesn't imply we may in the future."

He said his firm purchased the land for development with full knowledge that the tract lies within the Canyon District and that current plans call for "leaving things as they are."

White's statement is a blow to efforts by Amarillo school board members to have about 11½ sections of land south and west of their Amarillo High School annexed into the Amarillo School District.

Amarillo board members have contended that developments in the 11½ sections will be stifled because the land lies within the Canyon School District.

Another developer, Glenn O'Dell, has petitioned to have about 50 acres of land near the Canyon Expressway in South Amarillo annexed to the Amarillo district.

The Panhandle Savings and Loan development becomes the first announced major development in the area south of the Amarillo-Canyon school district lines.

The association's development includes 300 acres for residential housing.

The development will ultimately include 960 lots for single-family residences, along with areas for commercial and multi-family use.

Areas within the development tract will be made available for schools and other public utilities.

Eight units are to be developed over a six-year period, according to White, with the first phase of the project calling for construction of homes on about 115 lots along Bell. Construction is to begin this spring with houses expected to be opened by mid-fall.

Streets, alleys and utility easements for underground utilities are now being staked at the site, White said.

Amarillo school board members began pressing the Canyon School Board more than a year ago to give up the 11½ sections of land in the north part of the district. But, to date only O'Dell's petition has been forthcoming to seek annexation by the Amarillo district.

Before annexation may occur, a petition must be received by both boards as well as the Randall and Potter County School Boards with signatures from the property owners in the area seeking annexation.

O'Dell has withdrawn his petition pending a clarification of the law on the petition effort.

Three inches of snow falls, but wheat not benefitted

About three inches of snow blew into the Canyon area during the night Wednesday and early Thursday, blanketing the area, but doing little to aid a dry wheat crop.

Temperatures dropped drastically in the county Wednesday as a cold front blew in, surprising local residents with the blanket of snow early Thursday.

The rapidly-falling snow made driving hazardous for area residents driving to and from Canyon for either classes at West Texas State University or for work.

Some commuters reported the Canyon Expressway a sheet of solid snow and ice early Thursday and several minor accidents were reported. The snow slowed traffic on the expressway to a crawl and many persons reported an hour's drive to get to Canyon from Amarillo.

The sun came out shortly after noon Thursday, though, and the snow began melting as Canyon's official temperature rose to above the freezing mark — 34 degrees — during the afternoon.

By late afternoon local streets were cleared of snow by the temperatures.

About .30 inches of moisture was recorded from the snowfall, not enough to allay fears of area farmers that they may have to

Tuesday night's games 'musts' for city teams

The pressure's on and this is the week to win for the Canyon boy and girl Eagles.

For the Boy Eagles, the district crown goes on the line Tuesday night.

For the Girl Eagles, with the district banner under their belts, Tuesday night holds the future as far as this basketball season is concerned. The girls go against an El Paso high school for the bi-district crown, which, if won, would send the girls to the regional championship bout and hopefully to the state tournament in Austin.

The Eagles of the male variety won the first of two "must" games Friday night when they downed the Muleshoe Mules by more than 10 points on the road. They must now beat the Perryton Rangers in a road game Tuesday night to win the district championship.

The Girl Eagles travel to Roswell, N.M., for an 8:30 p.m. outing against Jefferson High School of El Paso in the gymnasium at Roswell Goddard High.

Coach Bob Schneider worked with his Girl Eagles Friday in preparation for the bi-district game, the Eagles first bi-district bout in two years. And, he spent some time on the phone talking with coaches of teams which have played the Jefferson High team.

What he learned about his Tuesday opponents is that they have a 20-4 season record and a record of 13 wins and a loss for their district.

He also learned that Jefferson fields a set of forwards who range in size from 5-4 to 5-7, and a set of guards who range in height from 5-5 to 5-10.

"They're real quick and run a double post offense and do a good job of using the ball," Schneider said. "They may press or run a loose man-to-man defense."

Schneider is planning to take a healthy team to the Tuesday game inspite of the high percentage of absentees in local schools due to illness.

One Girl Eagle starter, Judy McBroom, is not expected to see action Tuesday night. But, the rest of the Eagle starters will be on the road.

Forwards Robena Johnson, 5-11, Alisha Nelson, 5-5, and Carla Swatzell, 5-7, will provide the scoring edge for the Eagles against Jefferson.

On the guard end of the court, the Eagles will field defensive standouts Lynn Davis, 5-5, Carla Ratliff, 5-9, and Cathy Lewis, 5-7.

Height, Schneider feels, will probably not be a problem for the Eagles in the Tuesday outing. He noted that the Eagles have played and downed teams with taller girls this season.

The key, he says, is making the opponent team play the Eagle

Inflation aids property owners, hurts school district, county

Inflation isn't all bad, particularly for property owners in Randall County and the Canyon School District.

Thanks to inflation, area property owners are paying in most cases much less than they should be paying in taxes on their property.

Tax collectors Conway Kuykendall of the Canyon school district and Audrey Bruse of Randall County agree that property values in the county have increased profoundly in recent years while tax tables used in their offices show much lower valuations on area property.

Kuykendall surmises that the 100 per cent valuation on his books for area property is really about 85 per cent of the true 100 per cent market value of that property.

The picture is worse for the county, where Mrs. Bruse estimates that her books reflect less than 65 per cent of the true 100 per cent market value of property.

In short, inflation is dealing county property owners a tax decrease each year. Conversely, inflation is lowering the amount of income for schools and county functions.

The solution, according to Mrs. Bruse, is a total revaluation of all property in Randall County. Kuykendall says some adjustments are needed.

The school district hired an outside firm to revaluate school district property in 1965, but Kuykendall says the values are now out-of-date.

He illustrated the problem one way: Currently, the tax roll in the school district is $168 million. Using the various tax rates and doing some figuring, he figured he's to collect $1.175 million for use by the school district this year.

But, if all property in the district were valued on his books at 100 per cent market value, Kuykendall said the total tax roll would be $197 million and income to the district would amount to $1.380 million, or roughly $200,000 more.

Kuykendall points out that it is never possible to get a true 100 per cent value for each piece of property and noted that when real estate or houses are put on his tax roll they are automatically listed at 95 per cent of market value as depreciation.

He says his records are out of date particularly on land values and residence values.

Kuykendall said that the highest rate applied to the valuation

Survey for merchants postponed by chamber

A merchandising survey which supporters said would help local merchants keep more Canyon dollars in Canyon will not be conducted this spring, John Childs, president of the Chamber of Commerce, announced Friday.

Childs said the survey effort has been postponed, but did not say when the survey might be conducted. He indicated the survey probably will not be conducted this year.

The Chamber president said about 95 per cent of the money needed to fund the survey, which was to be conducted by the school of business at West Texas State University, had been raised but the chamber felt broader support from local merchants was needed to justify the survey.

He said 22 merchants pledged to pay for the survey.

The survey was the focal-point of heated discussion last Tuesday night when directors of the chamber met and directors were wary of conducting the survey without full local support.

Childs said before the chamber tries to generate support again for conducting the survey, he will try to extend a period of education for local merchants to let them know the ramifications of the survey.

Childs would not say the survey effort has been postponed indefinitely.

"It was worthwhile to look into and investigate," he said. "It got a lot of people thinking and if we can do that I would say it's a step forward."

Childs said he believes the survey was a "worthwhile idea."

"I was pleased with the amount of interest and I want to thank all the merchants who were interested in going along with us," he said.

The survey was apparently a point of controversy for several merchants.

The survey would have been conducted by students under direction of WTSU school of business faculty members.

Several areas would have been examined on the survey, including how much money flows from Canyon to Amarillo merchants and why more local residents do not shop in Canyon.

A dozen merchants heard a presentation on the survey by Bill Semmelbeck of the school of business two weeks ago and seemed pleased with the idea.

Mrs. Francis "Sissy" Farenthold speaks to about 300 persons in the activities center at West Texas State University Wednesday night and tells them she has no suggestions about how to get water to the Texas Panhandle.

Sissy sees no solution on water

Separating herself from what she termed as politicians who make promises they will not keep, Mrs. Francis "Sissy" Farenthold told an audience of 300 here Wednesday night she has no solution to the water problem in West Texas and said the water plan to bring water here from the Mississippi River is not feasible.

Mrs. Farenthold, who announced Monday she will seek the state's gubernatorial candidacy in the May primary against incumbent Gov. Dolph Briscoe, spoke briefly Wednesday night on the West Texas State University campus of the first amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

She brought up the West Texas water situation during a lengthy question-and-answer period following her speech.

City reps will vote conscience

Canyon city commissioners left their two representatives to the board of directors of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission free to vote their conscience on a change in PRPC by-laws allowing minority representation during a special emergency meeting Friday afternoon.

Dr. J. Pat Stephens and Willis Harrison, city commissioners who represent the city on the PRPC board, were told to vote as they will on the proposed by-law changes which are scheduled for consideration Wednesday night in an Amarillo PRPC meeting.

Those instructions went to the city's two board representatives after commissioners considered the ramifications of allowing minority representation on the PRPC board of directors and considered an alternate plan proposed by City Manager George Loudder.

The key problem considered by commissioners Friday afternoon was whether the by-laws should be changed from a status now of mandating that all directors of the PRPC be locally elected officials to a new reading which mandates that three of the directors may be appointed officials representing minority groups or associations.

The by-law change has been proposed as a part of a by-law change package called for if PRPC directors decide to incorporate into the PRPC an economic development goal.

Commissioner H.R. Fulton Jr. noted that when the PRPC was originally established it was the feeling that all directors should be locally elected officials.

Loudder explained that the law establishing the PRPC and other regional planning commissions in the state says that the board of directors must be made up so at least two-thirds of the members of the board are locally elected officials. That means, he said, one-third of the membership could be appointed citizens.

Loudder proposed that the

Sickness closes schools as absences total over 700

Canyon schools were closed all day Friday after the number of absentees due to widespread sickness rose to the 30 per cent level on Thursday and local school officials will be watching absentee reports early this week to see if the three-day weekend halted spread of the malady.

Supt. Jerry Jacobs dismissed classes Friday after meeting with other school officials Thursday morning to review absentee reports from the city's four schools.

In dismissing classes, Canyon schools joined other Panhandle area schools plagued by a 48-hour flu which took a heavy toll particularly among junior and senior high school students.

The absentee rate in the Canyon schools rose by about 100 per day throughout last week climaxing in a total absentee list of 788 on Thursday.

Total absentees on Wednesday was 666 and on Tuesday it was 552.

"We hope another three-day weekend will have a lot of this stuff cleared out," Jacobs said Thursday.

Canyon school children had a three-day weekend last weekend after a week which saw absences hit the 10 per cent mark in many local schools. Officials had hoped that three-day weekend would head off further entrenchment of the malady, but children continued to miss

Our World

How Much Longer?

By ANN BROWN

Violence, destruction, and strikes are contrary to traditional American policy. But the destructive policies of the myopic men in Washington have spawned a new order.

Promoted under the guise of aid to farmers, federal agricultural programs have liquidated millions of small farmers, pushing them one by one into other work or on welfare.

For seven successive years, according to government reports, the relatively few remaining farmers lost money on their farms. In spite of their losses, they continued to keep an abundant supply of food on American tables, and provided a surplus for export.

The truckers, however, may not be quite as self-sacrificing as the farmers. Apparently, the trucks will make a profit or they will not roll.

However much we may disapprove of some of their methods, it is gratifying to see that not all our working classes have had their spirits broken.

Americans have contributed more to the comfort, welfare, and prosperity of the world than any other civilization on record.

Few of us would contend, however, that all our contributions for the good of mankind were made out of pure altruism. Most of them were probably inspired by the profit motive.

It is a fact of life that "whatsoever a man sows, that shall he also reap." He may not reap it when, where, or the way he expects; but reap he will.

Why is it strange then that a man who works hard should expect to reap a reward for his labors?

While Americans have labored to provide goods and services for the rest of the world, our own income has risen to about 5 times that of the average world citizen.

The profit motive is the most conducive to production of any yet devised. And free competition will always bring profits under healthy control.

The superlative profit-inspiring statement is found in the Bible: If any will not work, neither shall he eat.

But our modern government has changed all that. If a man works and makes a profit, it is taken away from him. If he refuses to work, he is fed anyway.

Government food stamps can be traded for food provided by the farmers who have worked seven years without a profit.

When the working man is deprived of the profit he has earned, and the man who refuses to work has his needs supplied anyway, what incentive is there to work?

Government red tape, regimentation, and constant harassment have generated a spirit of hopelessness in many of our business people similar to that found in the oppressed areas of the world.

As excessive taxes devour profits, they also eat up the profit motives. So because producers lack the traditional profit incentive, merchants report their order sheets coming back with an increasing number of items marked, "not available."

At least the truckers have not given up and quit. They are still fighting for their right to protect their trucks from destructive government regulations, and their right to make a profit.

It was reportedly the truckers who toppled Allende.

If American truck drivers will be careful not to destroy each other in their quest for justice, their zeal may inspire the rest of us to throw off some yokes.

No man can infringe on the rights of another without eventually getting hurt himself.

So how long can our government continue to ignore the wishes and rights of the people without losing its own status?

Sissy, Dolph And Preston —Politicos On Pulpit Strings

By CARROLL WILSON

There must be a school somewhere in the backwoods of South Texas where all Democratic candidates for governor of this great state go to learn the fine art of speech-making.

The school, I would surmise, is run by a former Baptist preacher, a fire-breathing, Bible-beating Southerner.

Preston Smith, when he stepped behind the podium, sounded like a Baptist preacher, and that is not to say there's anything wrong with the way Baptist preachers sound. It's just that they sound alike. They use the same inflection on words and they end their sentences with the same vocal device.

Dolph Briscoe sounds like a Baptist preacher. In fact, he sounds just like Preston Smith.

And, Sissy Farenthold sounds just like Dolph Briscoe and Preston Smith.

Sissy, Dolph and Preston could take the Canyon schools' cafeteria menu for next week and make it sound like a great earth-shattering pronouncement.

It's not what they say, it's how they say it.

Many people, no doubt, came away from Sissy Farenthold's Wednesday night speech here feeling as if they'd really been told something.

They weren't.

Mrs. Farenthold's speech — and no doubt it was a tough one to make on the eve of her formal announcement for governor — was a speech which started off great but which led nowhere. She laid excellent groundwork to attack either President Nixon or the nation's press. But, she never used her well laid out groundwork to build her conclusion. She fell flat.

If Mrs. Farenthold's speech was about the substance of warm air, it was even a greater disappointment because of her reputation for candor.

Oh, she was candid alright. She candidly admitted she's got no solution to the problems of West Texas in terms of getting water up here.

But, it was unfortunate use of candor.

"I hope you folks can come up with a solution to your problem while we in the rest of Texas worry about the real problems of Texas," was the essence of her comment on the water situation up here.

She said she wants to hear some solutions, but profferred not the least bit of hope that if elected she'll set a priority on helping us work out a solution.

Mrs. Farenthold was a bust in her talk here. If she can't rid herself of a certain regional chauvinism and the aura of being just another in a long line of Texas smooth-talking politicians, Mrs. Farenthold will have even less of a chance at the Democratic nomination than she has right now.

Why in the world would one of the Panhandle's best neurosurgeons want to run for Congress?

That question has been bothering me ever since I saw Dr. Louis Finney, Amarillo neurosurgeon crack the first smile of his life on television last week.

The usually grim, blunt and rude Dr. Finney was surprising not only because he proved to the non-believer that he is capable of good humor but because the non-believer learned that Dr. Finney can speak intelligently about the issues facing the country.

But, what on earth has possessed the man? I mean we all know doctors make good money and neurosurgeons are not overpopulating the nation's poor-houses.

But, there's another question involved here, too. Why should Dr. Finney be elected?

If the nation's poor-houses are not overrun by neurosurgeons neither are the nation's cities suffering an over-population of these specialists.

Dr. Finney, in spite of his gruff demeanor, is needed by the Panhandle much more at the head of an operating table than he is in a back seat in Congress.

Let's wait and see how Ben Bynum, Amarillo's representative (?) in the state legislature, squirms when his opponent Buck Ramsey begins jibbing Bynum about his sulking over the failure of a constitutional amendment which would have raised legislators' salaries.

Ramsey has already indicated the salary is of no concern to him.

The salary has been a big deal for Bynum, who kicked the dirt and pouted last fall when the constitutional amendment went down. Bynum even told the press he'd be cutting back on services for constituents.

If Amarillo elects Bynum again, they deserve him.

school throughout the week.

Each Canyon school reported Thursday morning that absentee rates were near or above the 20 per cent mark.

Hardest hit by the malady was Canyon High School with an absentee rate of 32 per cent with 231 students missing classes of a total of 702 students.

The junior high school had 256 students absent Thursday out of 876 students or a total of 28 per cent.

At Rex Reeves Elementary school, a total of 21 per cent of the students were absent on Thursday with 214 missing classes of a total enrollment of 1008.

Gene Howe School reported a total of 18 per cent absent or 87 of 498 students.

The rate of absentees on Tuesday was just over the 20 per cent mark for the school system.

Jacobs said discussions with local physicians indicated that a three-day weekend this weekend might allay the spread of the sickness, described as a non-virus type flu.

Canyon teachers, who were largely unaffected by the affliction, reported Friday for in-service training.

The dismissal of classes on Friday will not call for a shortening of the Easter holiday for local students, Jacobs said.

An in-service training day for teachers scheduled for March 1 will be cancelled and students will attend classes on that day to make up for the missed day on Friday.

The last time local schools were affected by a widespread sickness was in 1969 when West Texas State University closed early for the Christmas holidays due to an outbreak of flu in the dormitories.

The university was apparently unaffected by the flu spread last week.

While some WTSU professors reported as many as 10 per cent of their students absent from classes, the university health center nurse reported few complaints from students.

Saying she's "thought a lot" about the disappearing water in the Panhandle, Mrs. Farenthold said she's "anxious to hear some suggestions."

She predicted that the so-called Texas Water Plan, which calls for piping water to the Panhandle from the Mississippi River will never work.

"I'd sure like to hear some thinking besides the Texas Water Plan because I don't think it's going to be," she said.

Declining to delve into the swinging political arena before a scheduled Thursday morning press conference in Austin, Mrs. Farenthold focused during her speech on the lack of facts available to Americans and centered on the First Amendment rights of free speech and press.

Her 20-minute low-key talk called for more facts for decision-making by the population.

She did take a few off-hand swipes at incumbent Briscoe, telling the audience she decided to run again for governor because the governor elected this year will serve a four-year rather than a two-year term in Austin.

She said she wound up in state-level politics initially in 1971 when the reform movement reached a head in the Texas House. Infected by the reform movement, she said, she looked around for a leader and found none. She stepped into the gap.

Mrs. Farenthold told a youthful questioner she has no preference currently for the Democratic presidential nominee for 1976.

Her appearance on the WTSU campus was sponsored by the university special programs committee.

PRPC by-laws be changed so that minority representatives on the board be required to be elective officials, also.

Concurrent with the discussion on minority representation, commissioners discussed the advantages and disadvantages of having the PRPC oversee the 25-county Panhandle area as an economic development area.

Loudder explained that by making the area an economic development area cities in the region would be eligible for priority loans for industrial development.

PRPC executive director Ernest Clark told The News last week that if the PRPC is also named coordinator for the economic development area, funding from the federal level will be available for industrial growth and expansion.

But, he noted, minority representation must be available on the board of directors under federal guidelines for establishment of an economic development area.

During the Friday night meeting, commissioners noted the law says the PRPC board may include members who are not elected officials.

Fulton suggested that Stephens and Harrison vote on the proposed by-law changes as they deem necessary.

game.

To sharpen up their own game, the Girl Eagles worked last week on rebounding and concentrated on their own plays.

The Girl Eagles are, naturally, flying high and their attitude, says Schneider, parallels the attitude of his earlier Eagle teams which won the state crown.

Also making the trip for the Girl Eagles Tuesday night will be Susan Cox, Nicki McCarter, Ronda Umberson, Sherril Adams, Denise Hamblin, Louise Davis, Penny Peckinpaugh and managers Cheryl Gunter, Royce Holladay and Becky Blewitt.

For the Boy Eagles, Tuesday night will spell whether they win the district crown or not.

By downing Muleshoe Friday night, the boys go into the district finale with a 6-1 record. The boys won their district's first half crown.

If the boys lose to Perryton, a play-off game to decide the district champion will be called.

But, if they win, they'll go on into bi-district play.

In a game earlier in the season, the Rangers downed the Eagles by six points, but the Rangers sport only a 4-16 record for the season.

The Eagles take a 20-12 record into the Tuesday outing.

Coach B.B. Kendrick warns that Perryton fields a better ball club than its record would indicate.

They're a young team with inexperience, but they have one all-stater back and several tall men on the bench.

"They're not consistent but they're capable of beating you," Kendrick said. "They shouldn't beat us if all our kids are here."

The Eagles fielded a six-man team Friday night against Muleshoe with three men sick and several on a choir trip.

They are also missing two men who originally started for the Eagles at the opening of the season. Bob Counseller underwent knee surgery during mid-season and is out for the season and Doug Harper was eliminated from the squad due to grades.

But, there are some big pluses in the Eagle corner for the district win.

Wayne Pitt, leading scorer for Canyon, is a 5-10 senior who's averaged 27 points per game in district play.

Another starter, Ed Lair, a 6-2 senior, has averaged 14 points dueing the season and 15 points per game in the district competition.

Andy Cooper, a 6-3 senior, is leading rebounder for the Eagles with an average of 13 per game. He's also a consistent scorer with a 17-point per game average in district play.

Senior Dennis Collier, 6-2, is hitting an average of seven points per game for district play but hit a high of 18 points in the Eagle outing against Levelland.

Lynn Wright, a 6-2 junior, is hitting a consistent 16 points per game during the season.

of a house for his books is $10 per square foot.

"You can't build a house for $10 a square foot now," he said.

Mrs. Bruse admitted she doesn't know the last time the county revaluated all property in the county, but said the 100 per cent valuations for property listed on her rolls are really only about 65 per cent valuations.

"I think it's better if we can keep up with market values," Mrs. Bruse said.

But, she said it would take more than a year for she and her resident appraiser to accomplish a revaluation of county property.

The problem is further illustrated by comparing the tax figures for three pieces of property taxed by both the school district and the county.

A rural home built in 1972 containing 1500 square feet is listed on Kuykendall's tax roll as worth $13,640 on the market. The home is taxes at $6.93 per square foot.

The same home is listed on the county tax roll as worth $11,860.

A home containing 1500 square feet in Canyon and built in 1973 is listed on the school tax roll as worth $14,290.

The county lists the house as worth $18,839.

A section of land in the county area which is taxed by both jurisdictions is worth $68,320 on the school rolls, but is worth only $34,410 on the county rolls.

Exotic, Canyon?

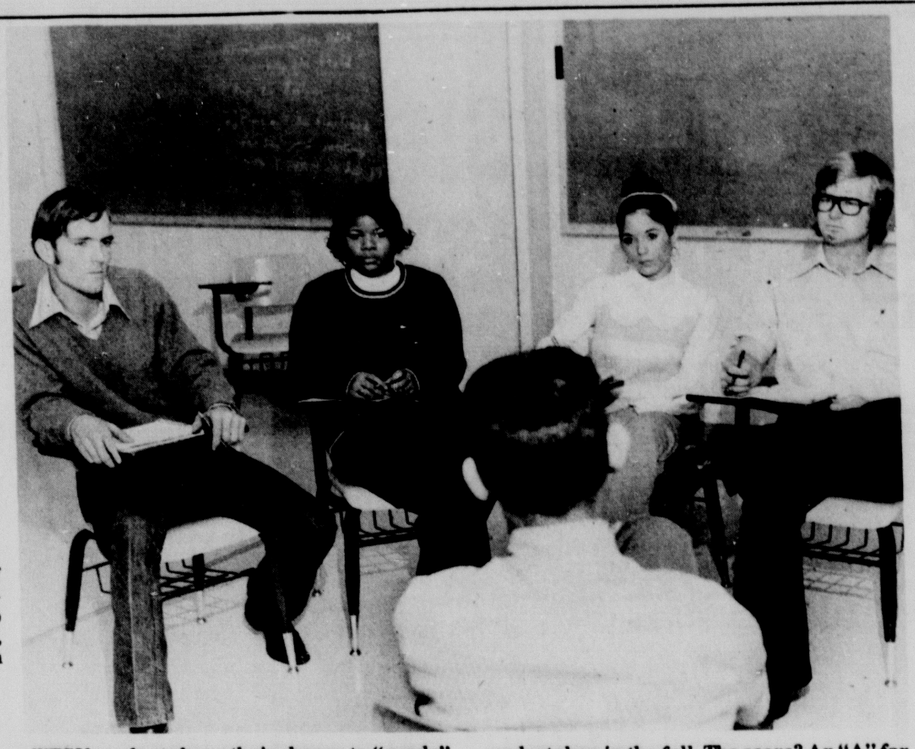

The same kind of adjectives used to describe verdant Shangri-Las and South Sea Islands were applied to Canyon in a recent advertisement appearing in the Dallas Morning News.

Not many Canyon dwellers would refer to their hometown as "far away" and "exotic" but that was the description Dallasites got of this city when they opened their newspapers recently.

The 2 x 21 inch advertisement read as follows:

"Tough Tom Presley that blooming Cowboy from far away exotic Canyon, Texas has grown us 70 extra super, groovy, magnificent fantastic AZALEAS in Terra-Cotta pots. Reg. 12.95. Today Only $4.95."

The News learned that Mr. Presley is a former employee of the Irwin Greenhouse, northwest of Canyon. He moved to Dallas about two years ago, where he is presently engaged in the florist business.

WTSU students have their chance to "grade" their instructor on his classroom performance during the faculty evaluation undertaken in the fall. The score? An "A" for the university.

Report Due On Microfilm

A new system of recording deeds and records in the Randall County clerk's office will be discussed Monday by county commissioners during regular session.

They meet at 1 p.m. in the Canyon courthouse.

Clerk LeRoy Hutton will present initial cost figures and information concerning a switch to microfilm process for recording of instruments in his office.

Commissioners last week instructed Hutton to prepare initial information for a possible switch from his current use of the photostat equipment. They based their instruction on rising costs in operation of the current machinery.

Amarillo architect Art Vaughan is to meet with commissioners to discuss plans for construction of a South Amarillo courthouse annex. The annex has been in the planning stages since last fall when commissioners purchased a 7-acre tract in South Amarillo.

Faculty At University Rated High By Students

The averaged results of the 1973-1974 West Texas State University faculty evaluation by students reveal an overall satisfaction, and even a rising opinion, of faculty performance.

The second of the university-sponsored evaluations, the first having been completed in 1972, consists of 16 questions ranging from the rating of fairness in assignments and homework to the organizational and communication abilities of the instructor.

Spreading from "strongly agree" (1.0) to "strongly disagree" (5.0), no averaged score on the evaluation is larger than 2.01, which is a strong "yes" for satisfaction with the overall performance of the WT faculty.

The results of the 1972 evaluation offer an interesting comparison. The largest score on the questions is a 2.20, still expressing the overall satisfaction of the 1972 student body. The comparison also shows that in every question the student opinion of the faculty's 1973 performance has increased, one as much as twelve-hundredths of a point. The most positive scores for 1972 and 1973 both appear on the same question: "The instructor seems to have abundant knowledge of the subject." To this, the students of 1972 reported a 1.51, or .51 away from the superlative "strongly agree" category. The students of 1973 even more strongly agreed with a 1.46 rating.

"The results of the current faculty evaluation prove again that West Texas State University has a superb faculty. There are more important aspects of university life, but none is so important as the interaction which takes place between student and teacher. Our students strongly believe that our faculty members are providing them with quality higher education. A university can receive no higher commendation," Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, WTSU president, said.

All faculty members are invited to participate in the evaluations, and those who accept are evaluated by all students present in the class. Whether he shares the results with anyone other than his department head is the decision of the faculty member.

While no personnel decision will be made primarily on the basis of the evaluation, Vice President for Academic Affairs Dr. Ray Malzahn stated, decisions on the retention, promotion, tenure and merit salary increases will be made on the basis of demonstrated merit and not on the absence of negative performance. A student evaluation can provide support for the recommendations, he concluded.

Invasion Of Sexes Due Here

By ANN MELIN

The sexual revolution that social commentators say is going on throughout America now has taken an odd twist in Canyon.

In the vanguard of the movement elsewhere in the country are thosr relentless Women's Lib proponents who are invading the revered sanctuaries of manhood without compunction.

Not so in Canyon.

In this Texas town, it seems to be the menfolk who have gone forth and stormed the fortresses of femininity.

Cigar smoke and whiskers have permeated the hair spray-and-roller world of the local beauty shops.

Those salt-and-pepper hairstyles with the Grecian curls that so many Canyon businessmen and professionals like to sport, are oftentimes created and rejuvenated weekly within local beauty salons like the Golden Goddess, located at 1408 Fourth Ave.

For over a year style-conscious males have been coming in for styling, cutting and mustache-trimming at the salon, says beautician Raline Carroll. And after a year, the establishment's feminine "regulars" have thoroughly accepted their presence in the shop — have even fallen into proverbial beauty shop gossip with the fellas, she says.

If the hens and foxes are in harmony under the humming dryers of the local beauty salon, total integration has not yet come to what is undoubtedly Canyon's most masculine haunt.

No chauvinistic Cerberus keeps guard at the screen door leading into Byrd's Recreation Club, which has stood for well over 50 years as Canyon's sanctum sanctorum for manhood.

While women sometimes brave the stench of stale chewing tobacco and cigars to shoot a game of pool with their spouses, owner Roy Byrd says that never in the history of the establishment has a female ventured into the innards of the hall for a game of dominoes with its male denizens.

Byrd didn't hesitate a minute in explaining why local women have shied away from the domino tables.

"They're afraid of all those old men back there," he said bluntly. "Nobody's stoppin' 'em from playing."

If there's an explanation for the unusual progress of the sexual revolution in this city, it lies in and on the pragmatic heads of local businessmen. By enduring the initial wisecrackery and stares, they have succeeded in saving not a buck, but many bucks by frequenting the local beauty salons.

Once an attorney, accountant or real estate salesman has decided he wants the distinguished but youthful "JFK look," he must decide whether he wants to invest in a $10 - $30 job at a men's styling studio, or whether he'd rather get the same thing done at a women's salon for $5 - $10. As often as not, plain old economic sense rules out.

Mrs. Carroll, who left a job as a men's stylist to assume duties at the Golden Goddess, says the blunt barbershop cuts of old are strictly out in today's world of fashion. And many barbershops have not yet adopted new techniques in men's styles that are much in demand at present.

The beauticians at the Golden Goddess all say that men are "more agreeable" to work with than women customers in most cases. "Men are a lot less particular," Mrs. Carroll says.

"And a lot of them can be a lot worse than women when it comes to gossiping," said one young stylist, laughingly.

For at least one married couple, a trip to the beauty shop may becoming a husband-and-wife affair.

Last Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Byrd of Clovis both received the professional attention of Mrs. Carroll.

The couple comes to Canyon every other week so that they can visit their son, Larry, who is attending West Texas State University, and so Mrs. Byrd can keep her regular shampoo-and-set appointment with Mrs. Carroll.

But last Saturday, Mr. Byrd decided to entrust himself to the expertise of Mrs. Carroll. After the beautician had snugly settled his wife under a hairdryer with the latest issue of Photoplay, Mrs. Carroll beckoned Mr. Byrd to her chair and tied her floral plastic apron around his neck.

"Isn't he a doll?" Mrs. Carroll asked this reporter after the gentleman had left the shop, handsomely coiffed, apparently to do some errands on the Square. His wife, not yet dry under the whirring machine, was still reading Photoplay.

A few days later, Mr. Roy Byrd (impressario of the domino tables) turned his good ear to this reporter while she told him about the Golden Goddess' male clientele.

"Yea, I know all about it," he said, "been thinking about going over there myself. Got these here blackheads I've been wanting to get rid of."

If it's a facial the man's interested in, Mrs. Carroll puzzled, she'd be glad to fix him up.

"And I'm going to have to put a stop to this no women domino players in Byrd's business," she said emphatically. "I love to play dominoes."

Sickle Cell Anemia Drive To Begin

A drive for sickle cell anemia is being planned by the Panhandle Planned Parenthood Association. The four day program is scheduled to begin Feb. 20 at the Hilltop Service Center in Amarillo.

Educational seminars are set for Feb. 20 at 6:30 p.m. for youth up to 18 years, and Feb. 21 at 7:30 p.m. for all adults 18 years and older.

Individuals who attend the seminar will be encouraged to pre-register for the sickle cell testing to determine if he or she carries the trait. The testing will be Feb. 25 and March 1 from noon to 8 p.m.

The seminars and testing dates will be at the Hilltop Center.

Presenting the program will be Norma White, District Chairman for March of Dimes; Claudia Stuart, Health Educator for Planned Parenthood; and Don Brown, Community Service Director for the Branch Y.M.C.A. Nurses, lab technicians, and counselors will be on hand during the testing.

The drive is headed by Mrs. Stuart, Earl Bledsoe, Executive Director of the branch Y.M.C.A. and the program staff at the Y.M.C.A.

Organizations participating in the drive are Kappa Alpha Psi, Black Student Union at WTSU, the North Amarillo Ministerial Alliance, March of Dimes, Delta Sigma Theta, and the Hilltop Learning Center.

Sickle cell anemia is a disease which is found mostly among Black Americans, and rarely in white people whose families originally came from countries like Greece, Italy and Turkey.

Sickle cell is an inherited condition that is caused by a slightly changed hemoglobin in the red blood cells. Rather than being round, the red blood cells become pointed or "sickle" shaped.

When the blood cells are shaped in the sickle form, they cannot carry enough oxygen to different parts of the body, thus they stick together and block up the small blood vessels preventing the normal blood flow. The result is pain and damage to internal organs.

The problems stemming from the disease often start during early childhood. People afflicted with the disease need continuing attention from a doctor, and often hospital care.

There are two different kinds of sickle cell anemia, one called a trait which comes in a very mild form, and the severe crippling form.

The disease is not contagious, only passed from one generation to another. One of ten or twelve Black Americans has the sickle cell trait, and about one in every four hundred Black Americans is born with sickle cell anemia.

Mrs. Stuart said the program is the first known to be conducted in the Panhandle area, though doctors have been testing for the disease. She said a pilot test run in November of last year on 26 persons showed five to have the sickle cell trait, an indication that the percentages are high.

West Heads Seal Appeal

David West will head the 1974 Easter Seal Appeal in Randall County, it was announced by Thomas N. Jenness, Jr., Fort Worth, President of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

Residents of Randall County will receive the annual Easter Seal Appeal letters in the mail beginning March 1. The Easter Seal Appeal, conducted yearly to provide treatment and services to disabled persons and their families, will continue through Easter Sunday, April 14.

West is one of 223 men and women throughout Texas who are serving in this capacity. The cost of the statewide Easter Seal program is over one million dollars, financed mainly by the Easter Seal Appeal. Almost 90 per cent of all funds raised by the Texas Easter Seal Appeal remain in Texas to support the growing needs of the disabled in the State.

Special emphasis is being given in the 1974 Easter Seal Appeal to the disabled citizen in the county who may need assistance and not know where to obtain it. Any disabled person can contact West at First National Bank of Canyon to receive the request form for a determination of the extent and type of assistance needed and the most efficient means of obtaining that assistance. Arrangements for qualified treatment or services will be made by the Texas Easter Seal Society.

Brian Crabtree. . . jumping over 5 feet.

Ramp Jumping Fun For Three City Boys

Motorcycle stunt-rider Evil Knevil has a following of sorts among the unmotorized crowd in Canyon.

Three local boys, Brian Crabtree, 9, Grant Thompson, 9 and Monte Tillinghast, 11, have fashioned a wooden ramp from which they jump their bicycles, vying to see who can jump the highest and farthest from the ramp.

So far, young Crabtree is the champion at ramp jumping, hitting a height of 5 feet.

The youngsters found the ramp in a backyard and "fixed it up" for use on their sidewalks.

While they enjoyed ramp jumping during the first part of last week, their mothers, however, stopped the ramp jumping because, according to Tillinghast, "it was too dangerous."

The three boys live in the 2600 block of 13th Avenue. They attend Rex Reeves Elementary School.

Senior Recital Due Wednesday

Carla Groves, Amarillo senior, will be featured in a violin recital at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Branding Iron Theatre at West Texas State University.

Mrs. Groves is a violinist with the Amarillo Symphony and is a member of the WTSU orchestra.

Basketball Coach's Wife Adjusts To Special Problems

Mary Ann Ekker, the wife of WTSU head basketball coach, Ron Ekker, reads to their two-year-old daughter, Carissa.

By SANDY GREINER

Accepting the disadvantages of being a coach's wife, recognizing the advantages, and learning to like basketball, have been three of the main factors in the life of the wife of Ron Ekker, West Texas State University head basketball coach.

Admitting that it takes a special kind of patience to be a coach's wife, Mary Ann Ekker says whe's not sure she has that quality.

"If I keep busy, it doesn't bother me so much," said Mrs. Ekker.

Caring for three children, two-year-old Carissa, nine-year-old Brett and thirteen-year-old Lisa occupy much of Mrs. Ekker's time. In addition, she cares for their Amarillo home, and teaches nursery school two mornings a week at the Polk Street United Methodist Church.

Because her husband is so thoroughly involved with his work, Mrs. Ekker manages the main part of the budget for the home and family.

"Any major expenditures, we decide on together, but I do most of the money management," said Mrs. Ekker as she explained that her husband has his own budget to manage at WTSU.

The Ekker family came to the Panhandle in June of last year. They moved here from Hillsdale, Mich., where Coach Ekker had worked with the basketball team at the Hillsdale Private College.

Before their move to Hillsdale, the Ekkers had lived in Minnesota.

Ekker has always coached since his graduation from Winona State College in Winona, Minn. Mrs. Ekker also attended the same college where she graduated in 1960 with a Bachelor of Science Degree in elementary education with a special certificate for kindergarten and primary teaching.

It was in college that she met her husband. They were married during her junior year. After her graduation, she taught until he finished school.

"Ron tended bar to work his way through school," she said, "and I wouldn't want to go back to those kind of hours."

She said the children have adjusted to the long hours their father has to spend with his job, but that Coach Ekker makes a special effort to be home whenever he can to share time with the family.

"Ron is completely dedicated to his job, and becomes thoroughly involved with it," she said, "but I'm glad he is doing the type of work he enjoys."

Mrs. Ekker said she would prefer him to be happy with the job than to be home at five every afternoon and have a job he was not satisfied with.

Recognizing the advantages of being a coach's wife, Mrs. Ekker said that it is easier to meet more people in such a position.

She said that the family adjusted quickly to the move to Amarillo. "We are very proud of Lisa and Brett," she said. "They were very mature about moving. They were happy for Ron, because they knew it was a major college job for him, which is what he wanted. Lots of kids don't get that involved with their father's job, but they know what's important to Ron."

Learning to truly enjoy the game of basketball is one of the accomplishments Mrs. Ekker attributes to her marriage.

"My father and brother were never athletic minded, and I only went to basketball games when I was in high school for social reasons," said Mrs. Ekker.

But she says she has learned to truly enjoy the game, because she understands it now.

"Each year I become more involved in the games," she said.

Attending every WTSU home game is something the entire family enjoys together. Even two-year-old Carissa goes to the games, and according to Mrs. Ekker, enjoys them very much.

In addition to her duties as a wife and mother, and teacher, Mrs. Ekker is a member of the WTSU faculty wives club, Wives, Etc. She also enjoys arts and crafts, and is an avid reader.

Western Swing King's Last Album Features Booklet By WTSU Prof

By ANN MELIN

The famous Country & Western singer had struck up his fiddle and belted out the tune several times now. But he still had an inkling he was missing the proper emphasis here and there.

Quizzically, he looked over at Dr. Charles Townsend, the West Texas State University professor who was attending the Dallas recording session.

"Am I getting it right, Doc?" Merle Haggard asked Townsend.

The C&W giant had put the question to the right man. After ten years of research on the life and times of Western Swing king Bob Wills, Dr. Townsend was well-equipped to advise Haggard on how to turn out a tune for an album that promises to be the last tribute to the idol of Haggard, Townsend and thousands of truck drivers, oil field workers and just plain folks throughout the nation.

The two-record album, scheduled to be released in March on the United Artist label, is entitled "Homecoming."

Originally, the album was to be called "What Makes Bob Holler?" A song by the same name written by Cindy Walker, attempts to answer the question of Bob Willsville fans who are wondering why their favorite fiddler couldn't get through a tune without pelting out a resounding "AAw-haaa."

The more somber title of "Homecoming" was given to the album, however, when it became clear to the reunited members of Wills' old band that the Dallas recording session last December was to be their last with their 68-year-old leader.

On Sunday, Dec. 2, about a half-dozen members of the Texas Playboys, Wills' old band, gathered at the head fiddler's home in Fort Worth to talk old times and warm up for the next day's recording session.

The following day, the ensemble met at the recording studio in Dallas, the city in which they made their first recording together in 1932.

Wills, who has been almost totally paralyzed since suffering the first of two strokes four years ago, was the dominating presence in the cavernous recording studio.

Wheeled into the studio by the Townsends and his wife, Betty, he looked fatigued but in good spirits. His illness had deprived him of movement in all save his right hand and arm, and he was able to speak only with difficulty.

But the flea-bitten old Turkey crooner was determined to get through the recording session he'd been wanting to have with his Playboys for many years.

And before the day's work was done, Wills had managed a croaking and faint "AAw-haaa" and had ended the tune, "When You Leave Amarillo," (originally written for him by Mrs. Walker) with an emphatic "Cut out the lights!"

Wills left the studio tired but contented. He didn't return to the next day's session. The evening before he apparently suffered a stroke in his sleep. He never regained consciousness. He still remains comatose in a Dallas hospital.

But the Texas Playboys weren't going to let grief stand in the way of completing the album which is expected to be Wills' last. They returned to the studio the next day.

Unable to make the first day's session and uncognizant of what being a day late would mean, Merle Haggard showed up in the studio on Tuesday, Dec. 4.

For 39 years, Haggard told reporters, he had dreamed of recording with Bob Wills. "And I was just a foot away and now it's still a dream."

Haggard had learned of plans for a last album by Wills and asked record producer Tommy Allsup if he could sit in with the band. Dr. Townsend said Haggard asked if he could sing on the album, and perhaps play a little fiddle ("He's been learning to play the fiddle," Townsend said).

"Allsup told him 'why, sure, you can play,' but he reminded this famed C&W singer that he'd have to work for union wage scale just like the rest of the boys. He agreed. And that's how old Merle got to be A Playboy For A Day," Dr. Townsend said.

Dr. Townsend said Haggard was to sing and fiddle on three songs in the album, "Yearning," "I Wonder If You Feel The Way I Do," and the "Texas Playboy's Theme." For the latter tune, Townsend and one of Wills' close friends, Don Dennis, had to jot down the lyrics for Haggard.

"He went through it, but couldn't get just the right emphasis in spots. Now Dennis and I can't sing a lick, but we had to go through it to show Haggard how it went. Then he'd try it again, and afterwards ask me, 'Am I getting it right, Doc?' "

The assist he gave Haggard wasn't the only role Dr. Townsend played in creating the album.

Back in the old days, when Wills' western swing was becoming legendary, his music would erupt over the radio waves with a plunk of a steel guitar, a twang of a fiddle string and a holler of a radio announcer, crying "THE TEXAS PLAYBOYS ARE ON THE AIR!"

Fittingly, the "Homecoming" album begins with that same kind of introduction. After the guitar, after the fiddle, the first voice listeners will be hearing will be the one that gets exercised at Panhandle rodeos in the summer and is daily heard in discourses on history at WTSU.

Although he gets in just seven words on the sound track, Dr. Townsend has written several thousand words on the subject of Wills that will be appearing both in a book he's writing, as well as a booklet that will be enclosed in each of the albums to be sold by United Artists.

His book, "San Antonio Rose: The Life and Music of Bob Wills," will be published in a music series this year by the University of Illinois press. The work follows Wills from his beginnings in the dusty cotton fields of his native Turkey until those last twilight hours in the Dallas recording studio.

And the booklet that will be a companion to the two-record album will be a synthesized version of the same story. Townsend recounted an interesting story behind the booklet.

Originally, the WTSU professor was commissioned to write two paragraphs about Wills that were to be accompanied by blurbs by other experts, all of which were to appear on the back of the album jacket, he said.

Townsend asked a United Artist representative about the length of the piece, and he was told to "make it as long as you want. We'll edit it. Write 20 pages if you want." The WTSU professor wrote 31 pages. He sent his essay to the company along with several rare photographs of Wills dating back to his earliest known musical appearances circa 1917 in Turkey.

This week, Townsend said he got a phone call from United Artists. The response was quick, since the professor said he'd only mailed his material the previous Friday.

"The United Artist executive told me he'd 'flipped out' over what I'd sent. Told me they'd changed their plans and were going to box the album and enclose my booklet inside each copy."

For Bud Townsend, the enthusiastic reception for his ten-year "labor of love" is exhilarating.

The WTSU professor says he's been building up to this point since he was a kid in East Texas — since he first began tapping his shoes and clapping his hands to the sounds of America's own music — Negro jazz, downhome country and folk, and, not least of all, the western swing that a Turkey fiddler named Bob Wills invented and made famous.

For that reason, Townsend says, he didn't choose the topic for what promises to be his most important piece of research. It chose him.

Oral History Grant Received By WTSU

A $3000 grant has been awarded to the West Texas State University history department for a summer project to collect the history of the Panhandle area by talking with early settlers.

Dr. Duane Guy, head of the history department, said the grant has been funded by the Texas College and University Bicentennial Committee for the oral history project.

Dr. Fred Rathjen of the history department will head up the project.

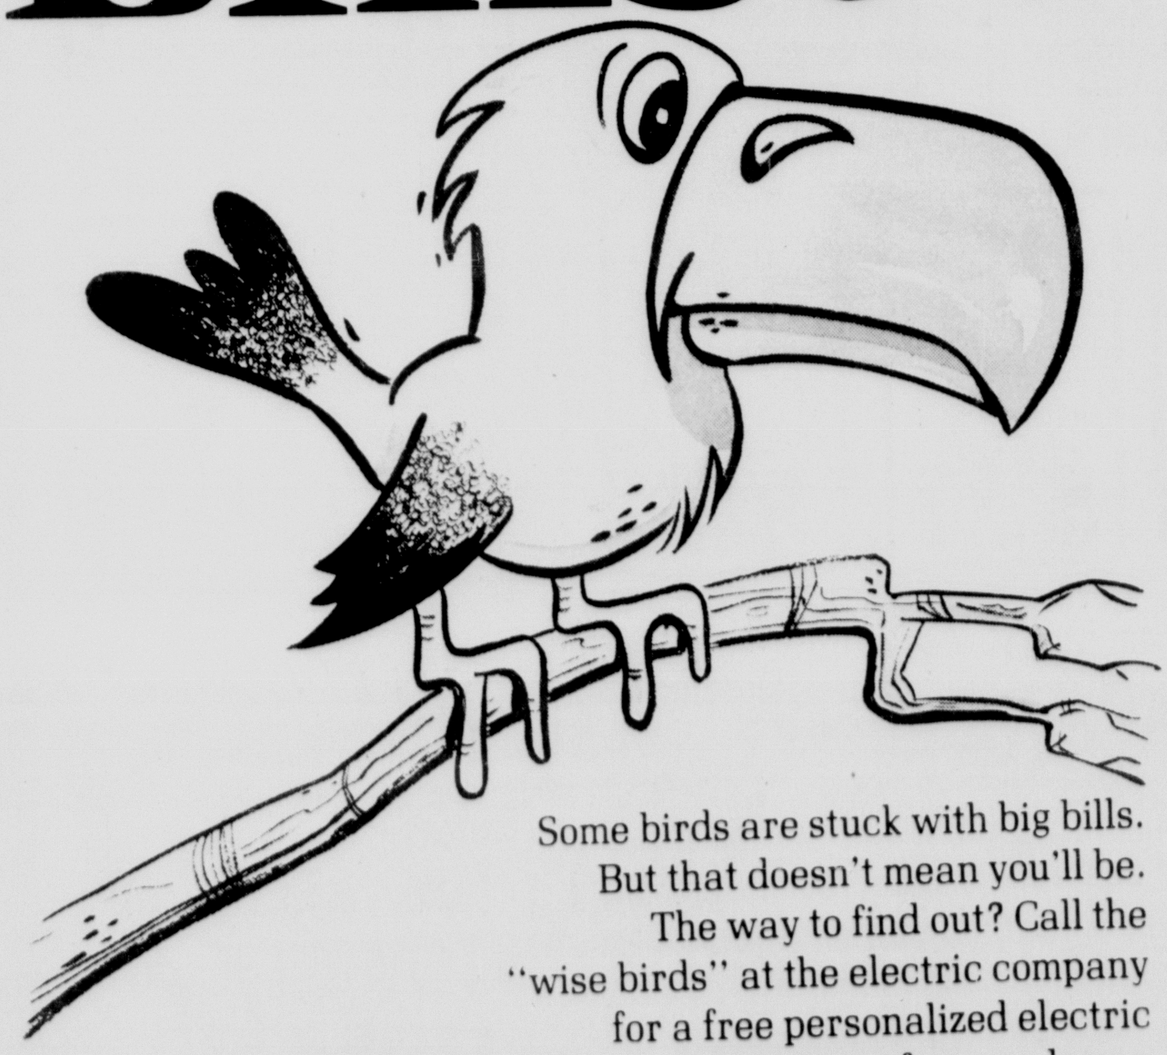

Through the project grant, WTSU students and faculty members will work through the summer talking with early settlers of Panhandle communities and recording their interviews on tape recordings. The tapes will later be transcribed and the transcriptions placed permanently in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum for reference.

Guy said he has no idea how many early settlers will be contacted in the project.

He said he hopes the project leads to a further grant from the bicentennial committee for filming of the interviews with early settlers.

He requested that local or area residents who know of an early settler who should be contacted for his story contact him at the university history department.

WTSU Team To Make Colorado Tour

By special invitation, six West Texas State University Campus Services students will tour four southeastern Colorado high schools on Feb. 15. Campus Services is a select group of students with the primary objective of acting as campus hosts and university representatives.

The invitation was extended after Campus Service member Gail Konkel met with her Walsh, Colo., high school principal about the possibility of a WT recruiting visit. The response was so enthusiastic, however, that soon the neighboring high schools at Campo, Springfield and Vilas requested a visit also.

The four towns are located approximately 200 miles from Canyon in the flatlands of Colorado, and are primarily farming and ranching communities. Several of WT's drawing points, Miss Konkel remarked, will be the multi-million dollar Activities Center and the fact that "it is so friendly."

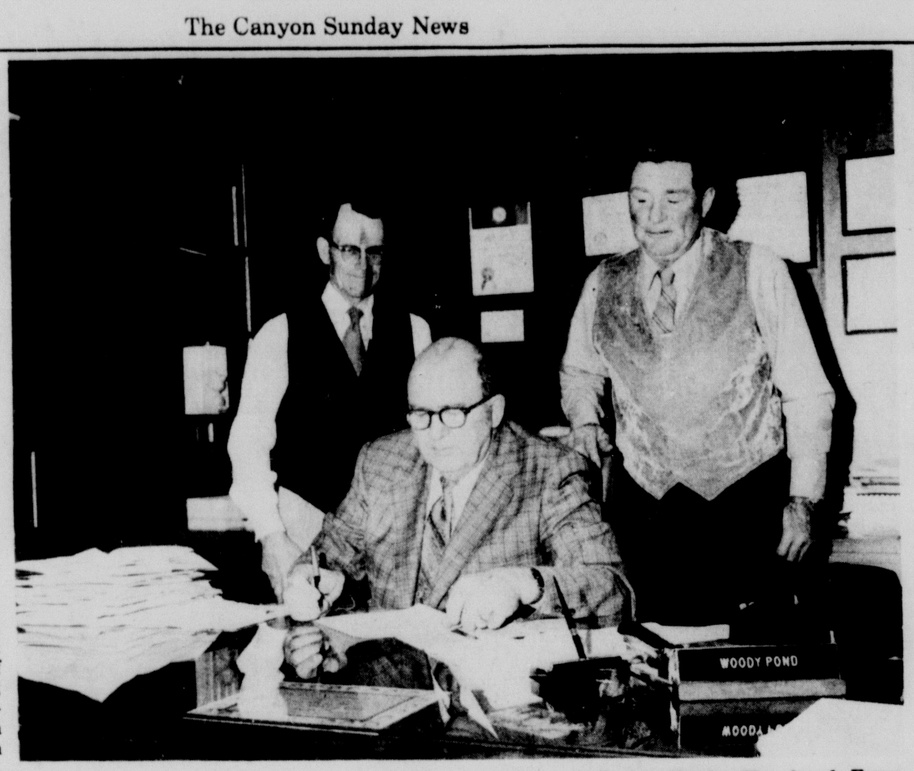

Originated in 1972, Campus Services members take visits to area high schools for the purpose of public relations, with special emphasis on each member's hometown.

While the Colorado visit will be the farthest they have travelled, the students have already visited Littlefield, Vega, Hereford and Happy.

The selection of the ten Campus Services students from sixty applicants was based upon counselor recommendations and academic excellence. Each receive a scholarship worth $400 a semester.

Miss Konkel, a freshman in accounting, is one of several southeastern Colorado students attending WT, including her older sister, a senior in agribusiness. Miss Konkel, the WTSU Rodeo Queen, has won the Colorado National High School cutting championship, and was fourth in the nation in cutting.

The Campus Services members, all freshmen, to tour with Miss Konkel are Brock Lovett, a music major from Amarillo; Jeff Osborne, Stinnett physics major; Ricky Graves, a pre-dental student from Vega; Karol Terry, a Littlefield student majoring in counseling; and Byron Brunson, a pre-engineering major from Idalou. Accompanying the students will be Admission Advisors Jan Bagley and John Eder.

East Indian Dinner Planned

The gourmet group of the Wives, Etc. club is now taking reservations for a gala dinner slated Feb. 23 which will focus on the cuisine, culture and music of India.

The event is planned for 7:30 p.m. at the Canyon Country Club.

SAGA foods will cater the meal, a spokesman for the club said. The menu will include hot mulled wine, chutney hors d'oeuvres, tachadi (a kind of soup), spinach salad, babi ketjap (a braised pork rice in soy sauce), broccoli pimiento and gajarhalwa (a carrot dessert).

Highlighting the evening's entertainment will be a musical presentation by sitarist Buddy Squires of Amarillo. Accompanying Squires will be Bobby Palit, playing tablas. Palit, an employee of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, is a native of India.

Following the dinner, readings will be presented in Indian dialects.

Syed Ali, West Texas State University student from Karachi, Pakistan, will present a reading in Urdu.

Abraham Valson, WTSU English major from Karala, India, will read selections in Malayalam and Telugu.

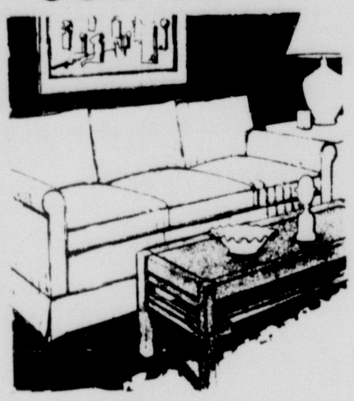

Tickets for the event are priced at $4.25 a person. Reservations may be made through Wives, Etc. club members Ann Asquith, Sandy Sparling or Sophia Duman.

Two WTSU student volunteers work out on ergometers in an experiment to determine the effect of vitamin E on the metabolism of lipids in the healthy young male.

Vitamin E Tests In Third Week

About 60 volunteers from West Texas State University are beginning their third week in tests to determine the effects of vitamin E.

Under the direction of Dr. A.J. Luquette of the WTSU physical education department, the students are being tested under assigned cardiovascular conditioning exercises on ergometers.

The volunteers, all students who eat in the university cafeteria, were all pre-tested for blood levels, bodyfat, cholesterol, and tri-glycerides.

The group was then randomly divided into two groups. Each member of one group takes one vitamin E daily, with the others taking placebos, pills with no vitamin value.

The students are all exercising under a controlled work load.

At the end of the eighth week of exercising the sixty students will all undergo post tests, and the differences in the two groups compared.

Dr. Luquette said, "The experiment should determine the effect of vitamin E on the metabolism of lipids in the healthy young male.

"Most research shows that cholesterol and tri-glycerides are substances which attach themselves to the inside walls of the arteries causing coronary problems and possibly arteriosclerosis," said Dr. Luquette.

Many research experts believe that vitamin E breaks down the substances that tend to collect in the arteries and heart.

Vitamin E is also believed to deteriorate scar tissue, and may be useful in healing damaged heart tissue.

Periodically during the testing period, the sixty volunteers will be checked for working heart rate, endurance, blood pressure and oxygen consumption.

Dr. Luquette's project is the first known such experiment to be conducted in the United States. A Canadian doctor has conducted similar experiments, but not particularly on the "healthy young male."

"I feel that it is the place of the college to investigate such possibilities," said Dr. Luquette.

The project is funded from an organized research committee at WTSU and partially by the Webber Pharmecutical Company of London, Ontario in Canada.

Dr. Luquette explained it was not until 1957 that it was discovered that vitamin E was a necessary supplement to the diet, but that for years wheat germ was erroneously thought to be a good source of the vitamin.

In 1967 the synthetic form of the vitamin was successfully produced.

Dr. Kenneth Crossland will spearhead this year's Scout money drive, which will continue through the week of the 25th in the city.

Crossland said main emphasis of this year's campaign will be to sign up sustaining members, members who pledge to pay a certain amount annually and who can be billed rather than contacted each year.

Local businessmen will participate in the drive and will meet at noon Feb. 25 for the kickoff luncheon at the community center.

Nine counties are covered by the Llano Estacado Council including Randall County.

Steve Hines is co-chairman of the fund drive this year.

IS DICTATORSHIP IMMINENT IN THE UNITED STATES?

Government by appointed officials is being forced upon the American people without their realizing it. Elections will be replaced by appointments.

Every citizen should watch very carefully the revision of the Texas Constitution, which has protected the rights of the people for many years. The real source for the revision of the Texas Constitution is the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, Washington, D.C., and the United Nations Intergovernmental Cooperation Act of 1968.

Isn't it strange that outside pressure is being exerted on all of the states to revise their state constitutions under the pretext that they are antiquated? As a matter of fact, it appears that the real reason behind revising state constitutions is to make the state constitutions conform to metro or regional government and not to state government.

When you examine the proposed revision of the Texas Constitution, you will be shocked to learn that the right of the people to elect State Supreme Court Justices and Courts of Appeals Judges is being taken away from the people.

It is also very alarming to understand the full meaning of Article IX, Section 2, in the proposed revision of the Texas Constitution. The term, "general law," in Section 2 refers to "Home Rule." This section, in conjunction with Section 4, permits an unsuspecting public to vote on a county "Home Rule" Charter.

Recently, "Home Rule" has become a deceptive term in the hands of certain agents who are attempting to take away OUR FREEDOMS. No longer does "Home Rule" safeguard the right of the citizens to control their local government. Instead, "Home Rule" grants entirely too much power to a governmental unit, and gradually takes away the citizens' right TO ELECT their own leaders. "Home Rule" is really a tool that is being used to promote REGIONAL GOVERNANCE. The PRPC is a part of regional governance in Texas.

It appears that regional governance is being set up as the apparatus by which the controls and provisions outlined in NIXON's EXECUTIVE ORDER #11490 may be implemented. This Executive Order authorizes the President and the federal government to TAKE OVER EVERY FACET OF OUR LIVES (including FUEL, OUR FOOD SUPPLY, and TRANSPORTATION) whenever he decides that such action is necessary. If he invokes all of the powers in this unconstitutional Executive Order, the United States WILL BECOME A DICTATORSHIP AT THAT MOMENT.

Committee For The Constitution, Inc.

Mrs. Michael Ray Mershon
nee Lynnda Marie Edwards

Edwards, Mershon Wed

Miss Lynnda Marie Edwards and Michael Ray Mershon exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony Friday night at 8 p.m. in the Methodist Student Center Chapel on the campus of West Texas State University, with the Rev. Bill Kent officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. H.D. Cawthon of Canyon and Charles Edwards of Albany, Ore. The grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. George Edmonds of Happy.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Mershon of Amarillo. Grandmother of the groom is Mrs. Anna Mitchell, also of Amarillo.

The altar for the ceremony was decorated with an arrangement of light blue daisy mums and dark blue mums, flanked on each side by candelabras of seven light blue candles, decked with palm leaves and dark blue ribbon.

Escorted and given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore a floor length gown, made by her aunt, Mrs. A.Z. Massey. The gown was candlelight white crepe de-chin, styled with Victorian neckline and a wide peau de soie lace capelet and full bishop sleeves with wide lace cuffs. Fitted at the waist, the full flowing skirt was adorned with a wide ruffle. The bride's waist length veil, designed by her mother, flowed from a crown of peau do soie lace flowers. As something old she wore a necklace, belonging to her grandmother which was originally used as a watch fob by her great uncle. For something new, she wore a pair of earrings given to her by the groom. Something blue was a white Bible and blue handkerchief carried by her mother in her wedding. The Bible was topped with a bouquet, chosen by the groom.

Miss Carol Hall of Dallas served as maid of honor. She wore a gown of dark blue crepe and a single blue daisy in her hair.

Best man was the brother of the bride, Jackie Edwards.

Ushers, all brothers of the bride, were Bobby Edwards, Kim Cawthon, Deward and Homer Cawthon.

Soloist Genia Farren, accompanied by organist Ann Dowdy, sang Twelfth of Never, and United We Stand.

A reception followed the ceremony. The table was covered in white net over a light blue cloth, and flocked with the bouquets of the bride and attendant. Serving refreshments were the sister of the bride, Miss Cindy Cawthon, sister of the groom, Miss Sheree Mershon, and cousins of the bride, Shellda and Sonda Edmonds, and Debbie McClintock. Jonnye Cudd attended the guest book.

The couple will reside at 1113-A W. 17th in Amarillo.

The bride graduated from Canyon High School in 1970. She attended WTSU and is presently enrolled in Amarillo College School of Bio-medical Arts.

The groom served in the U.S. Navy and is presently employed with the Circle K grocery chain.

All Around The House

County Extension Agent

Despite Americans' newfound role as connoisseurs of many and exotic varieties of cheese, good old Cheddar remains a favorite. Cheddar is reputed to have come to America on the Mayflower — and today it accounts for about 69 per cent of all domestic cheese made in this country.

A wholesome, "natural" food — the only thing added to the fresh, pasteurized milk and the "starter" culture from which it is made is salt and, sometimes, coloring matter — Cheddar cheese can be gourmet fare too.

It can make a fine dessert, served with fresh fruit such as apples, grapes, or pears. And of course it is always appropriate for hor d'oeurves, or just for snacks, served with bland crackers that will complement the full Cheddar flavor.

Here are some tips on buying:

Cheddar cheese can be purchased in several degrees of "sharpness," to suit your taste. Like fine wine, it is aged to reach just the right flavor. The length of the aging — or curing — determines how "sharp" it will be. Curing a good "sharp" Cheddar takes around one year; for "mild," it takes about three months; for "medium" (also called "mellow"), somewhere in between.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has developed quality grade standards for Cheddar cheese. These are used mainly by wholesale buyers and sellers as a language for communicating about quality and as an aid in establishing price.

However, in some areas, stores are selling Cheddar carrying the USDA Grade AA or A shield. This may be used only on cheese which has been officially graded and which was produced in an approved, sanitary plant under the constant supervision of a USDA grader.

USDA Grade AA Cheddar must have a fine, highly pleasing Cheddar flavor (appropriate for its curing category), a smooth compact texture, uniform color, and attractive appearance. The AA shield is assurance of consistently fine Cheddar flavor and texture in every package.

Cheddar cheese bearing the U.S. Grade A shield on the package is also good quality — but not quite as high as AA. The flavor is pleasing; however, there may be more variation in flavor and texture between packages.

Cheddar cheese is naturally yellow, to almost white. But people in some parts of the country apparently prefer Cheddar which is a rich yellor or orange — so cheese makers oblige by adding a water-soluble coloring matter. The color, of course, does not affect the flavor.

You may find Cheddar labeled as to State of origin — for example, Wisconsin, New York, or Vermont. And sometimes, Cheddar is called "American" cheese.

As with any natural cheese, Cheddar must be refrigerated. Keep it closely wrapped with plastic or foil to prevent drying out. But serve it at room temperature to bring out the full flavor. Remove it from the refrigerator 20 minutes to an hour before serving time — and enjoy!

For a copy of "How to Buy Cheddar Cheese," HG No. 128, call the extension office — 655-3341. It will be mailed to you without charge.

Girl Eagles On To Regional; Boys Win District

Canyon's Girl Eagles won the bi-district crown Tuesday night by downing the novice Jefferson High Girls 81-31 in Roswell and the Boy Eagles took the district crown the same night with a 49-38 win over Perryton's Rangers.

The Girls' win marked the sixth time they have gone into regional play in recent years. They could play Stephenville Saturday night at Sweetwater, site of last year's regional outing which pitted the Girl Eagles against the Honeybees.

The bi-district schedule for the Boy Eagles has not yet been set, but Coach B.B. Kendrick said his team will play a warm-up game at 8 p.m. Friday against Friona at Friona.

With a win Saturday night in the regional contest, the Girl Eagles will advance into the state finals in Austin later this month.

It was a young and inexperienced Jefferson High team which was fielded against the Eagles Tuesday night in Roswell and Canyon led from the outset in the humiliating defeat.

The Girls led at the close of the first quarter by 20-4 and held a 44-10 lead at the half.

Alisha Nelson scored 25 points for the winners and tall Robena Johnson hit 28 as high-point scorer. Carla Swatzell hit 12 points, Susan Cox hit 8, and Nicki McCarter and Cheryl Adams hit 4 points each.

Carla Ratliff was top rebounder on the guard end with eight rebounds and scored a plus 11 on Coach Bob Schneider's scoring chart. Guard Lynn Davis scored a plus 6 and Cathy Lewis scored a plus 10.

Schneider praised his team for a good team effort in the win, but he said the Eagles were short on their turnover rate and their hits from the floor and the free throw line.

The Girl Eagles hit 36 of 82 from the field for 44 per cent and 9 from 20 from the foul line for 45 per cent.

"We looked all right," Schneider said. "We had a few too many turnovers. We need to keep improving and work on the fundamentals."

Schneider said the Stephenville ball club his team will face this weekend is essentially the same club the Eagles beat last year in the regional tourney.

He said their team members are a little taller than the Eagles.

Wayne Pitt was high scorer for the boy Eagles in their 49-38 win over the Perryton Rangers for the district championship.

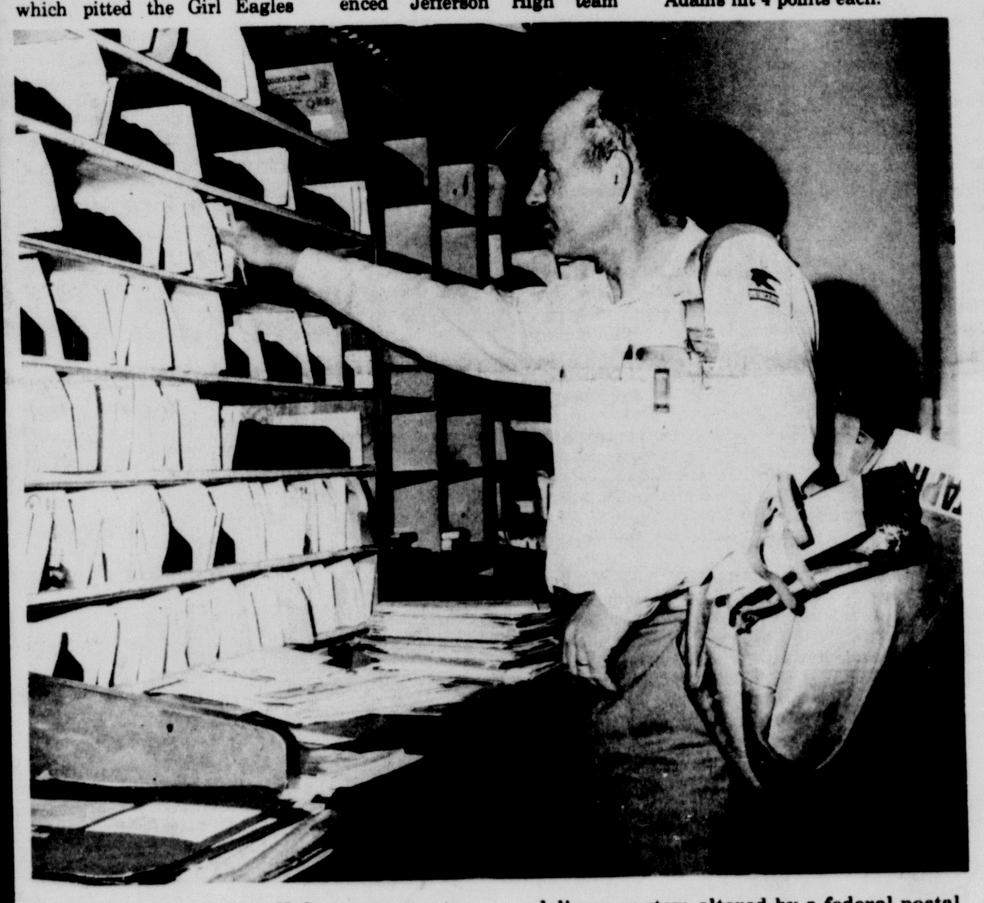

Pitt scored 27 points.

The Eagles wound up their district play with a 21-12 season record and a 7-1 district record. They won the district crown in 1969-70.

"We were real tight and shot poorly in the first half," Kendrick said of his team. "We loosened up the second half."

The Eagles were trailing by one point at the end of the first quarter, but came back in the second and led by 11 points throughout the final stanza of the game.

Kendrick was busy throughout Wednesday checking on the teams his Eagles may play in either a bi-district play-off or a regional tournament.

Canyon postman James Malone prepares to begin his mail deliveries this week with the aid of a device he abandoned four years ago — the mail bag. Postmen here donned their mail bags this week as they found their delivery system altered by a federal postal call for a reduction in gasoline useage of 20 per cent. For the past four years, postmen have been delivering mail from Jeep vehicles. (See story on page 7).

Canyon High. School Girl Eagle Robena Johnson and other teammates board the bus which took them to Roswell, N.M., Tuesday night for their bi-district game against Jefferson High of El Paso. The Girl Eagles won the game and will play for the regional championship this weekend.

New Home Construction Off In Jan.

New home construction in Canyon has taken a slow start early in 1974 after builders posted an all-time record for home construction during 1973.

Only one building permit for construction of a new home in the city was issued by the City of Canyon during January and so far in February only one permit for home construction has been issued.

Compared to January of 1973, the start is extremely slow.

City Manager George Loudder said building permits for houses indicated during January of 1973 that several homes valued at more than $127,000 were begun in that month.

During the same month this year, only one permit was issued for a home expected to cost $26,900.

"December was a very good month and we had

Public Meet Due Soon On Hiway

The first step in a long road to possible designation of U.S. 60 as an interstate highway will be taken by the Texas Highway Department in mid-March when it holds an informational public hearing in Hereford.

The public hearing will be at 7:30 p.m. March 19 at the district courtroom in the Hereford courthouse.

The hearing will be to provide information on the proposed studies to be made of U.S. 60 from Amarillo through Canyon to the Texas-New Mexico state line.

The hearing will be the first official act of the state highway department in relation to the possible upgrading and hopefully eventual designation of U.S. 60 as a part of the federal interstate system.

New Mexico officials have been working for more than seven years to have U.S. 60 from Amarillo to Las Cruces, N.M., designated as an interstate highway. Texas officials, including officials from Canyon, have met with the New Mexico officials several times during the past two years to work on the project.

Jack Light of the Texas Highway Department said he will present information contained in Congressional legislation regarding the U.S. 60 situation and then outline the department's plans for implementing the legislation at the public hearing.

Light said Tuesday the federal legislation calls for a feasibility study on 10 major routes in the United States. The U.S. 60 route

Pioneer Mrs. Warwick Dies; Services Set Today

Grace Warwick is dead.

The pioneer civic leader and humanitarian died early Wednesday morning in Neblett Memorial Hospital. She was the widow of Clyde W. Warwick, Canyon News publisher from 1910 until 1955. He died in 1957.

In mourning for one who did so much in shaping The Canyon News, the front page of this edition is bordered in black.

Mrs. Warwick was a moving force in development and progress of Canyon until her health failed only a few months ago.

In its diamond jubilee edition dedicating the issue to Mrs. Warwick The News had this to say:

"Her services are always available in a worthy cause. Her quiet voice today carries authority in the councils of her community."

The Canyon News will be closed from 2:30 p.m. until 4 o'clock this afternoon in memory of Mrs. Warwick.

Mrs. Warwick was born March 4, 1890 in Jefferson, Iowa. She was just short of 84 years old at the time of her death.

She came to Canyon with her parents in 1908. She was born Grace Winkleman. She was graduated from Canyon High School in 1909 and attended West Texas State then known as West Texas Normal.

Mrs. Warwick

She was one of 37 members of its first graduating class in 1911. Permanent certificates were given these graduates entitling them to teach any grade. The school at that time had a faculty of only 15.

Throughout most of her life Mrs. Warwick continued her education. She took additional courses with piano from Pauline Brigham. . . art from Isabel Robinson. . . wood carving, John Gillis. . . history, Dr. L.F. Sheffy . . . semantics from Dr. Crannel Tolliver and oil painting with Chris Gikas.

She has served as state chairman of the Student Loan Scholarship Fund of the Daughters of The American Revolution through which many students were helped to attend institutions of higher learning. She also

Choir Trip Bar Affair Raises Parents' Ire

Several parents of Canyon High School choir students who were caught in a bar last weekend in Houston during a choir trip are up in arms because they say the school is meting out punishment which hardly fits the crime.

The parents indicated they will appear before members of the Canyon School Board Tuesday night to voice protest at the way school administrators are handling the punishment of the students.

They also called on other parents in the community to join them Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the high school for the meeting.

"You think you've seen me riled up before," said one angry mother of a teenage daughter. "I'm not asking any favors. I just want to know why this happens every time on a school function trip."

Angered parents of high schoolers caught by their chaperones in a Houston bar while the choir was on a two-day trip to that city to appear before the Texas Music Educators Association conference say high school administrators are arbitrarily punishing their children for the drinking episode.

Parents met in conference throughout the day Wednesday with High School Principal John Sommer.

Sommer and Supt. of Schools Jerry Jacobs said Wednesday that if parents appear before the board Tuesday night the meeting between parents and board members will be conducted behind closed doors unless the parents request in writing an open meeting.

One mother charged that the high school administration was removing from office those students involved in the Houston fracas.

Sommer said that students involved who hold offices in school organizations which have charter qualifications concerning disciplinary actions will be removed from those offices.

He said the incident will not become a part of students' permanent records, nor will it keep any student from gaining student popularity honors this spring. It will not keep any student from being named valedictorian or salutatorian, either, he said.

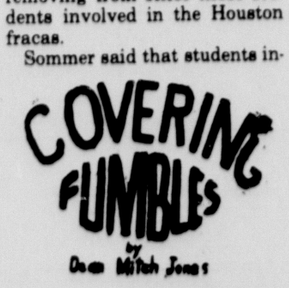

Sommer and Jacobs said the school must take some action with the students for the Houston incident and said the decision to bar them from holding offices in organizations which have charter sections concerning disciplinary matters is not thought to be a harsh punishment.

One irate mother, however, charged that the incident was the fault of the chaperones on the trip — not the fault of the students involved.

About 23 students were involved in the affair, which took place in a bar adjacent the motel where the students were staying on the choir trip.

It was reported that the owner

New Rate Structure Due For Garbage Collection

New rate structures for garbage collection for residential and commercial customers will be charged if Canyon City Commissioners act favorably on recommendations given them by City Manager George Loudder.

The new structure would call for a $1 per month increase in the rate charged residential customers and a substantial increase in the rates charged commercial customers.

The rates are proposed in a recommendation given city commissioners by Loudder in a report which also calls for a new budgetary system for the city's sanitation department.

Rates for residential customers will rise from $1.50 per month to $2.50 per month. For commercial customers, the new rates will be figured on a base rate and then a rate for useage of city-owned garbage containers.

The basic charge for commercial customers will be $3 per month for trash pick-up. The varying container charge will be based on the size of container used. For businesses with a 3.5 yard container, the monthly charge will be $12. For customers with a 4 yard container, the charge will be $14 per month. A charge of $20 per month will be made for customers with a 6 yard container and a charge of $28 per month will be made for customers with a 8 yard container.

Another major change is also called for in Loudder's recommendations to city commissioners, a change in service for residential customers in areas where there are no alleys.

Loudder recommends that curb-side service be rendered in those areas, specifically the Hunsley Hills addition, rather than the service now rendered.

In his report, Loudder says Hunsley Hills customers are serviced now on a twice-weekly basis with local sanitation workers going into either garages or backyards of residents of that area to pick up garbage containers.

Loudder said in his report that twice the amount of time is necessary to pick up garbage in the Hunsley Hills area as is required in areas of town with alleys.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

by Troy Martin

It is with grief that we report in this issue the death of Mrs. Grace Warwick.

Mrs. Warwick, widow of the late C.W. Warwick who was publisher of this newspaper from 1910 until 1955, was associated with most of the progress in this community for more than a half century.

I could enumerate on every page of this edition and still not say half enough. But what do you say when the irreplacable is gone.

I asked an old editor once why the crack Associated Press reporter who wrote the story on Franklin Roosevelt's death began it simply with "Franklin Delano Roosevelt is dead" instead of with flowery phrases about the American strongman of World War II.

"Son," he said, "when you are well enough known in your community that reporters can start your obituary that simply, you have amounted to something."

That is why the story on the death of Mrs. Warwick begins:

"Grace Warwick is dead."

Connally Lockhart has brought the list of contenders for district judge to four. Connally, former city judge in Amarillo, is running on the Republican ticket.

The stigma of having been a corporation judge in a city like Amarillo is almost as hard to live down as a criminal record.

A city judge has to grind out "justice" on a wholesale scale to come anywhere near keeping up with his docket.

It may not be the fault of the magistrate but justice is not always found in such a court.

People tried there are not buried in the penitentiary devoid of influence forever. They are good, influential people who overparked or ran a stop sign. They are not convinced of their guilt even after being found guilty.

Most of them go back home hostile instead of satisfied. They are ready to tell their neighbors what ought to happen to that judge to whom they have transferred ALL the hostility formerly lavished upon the arresting officer.

I remember in my own case, I once appeared on a traffic violation before Judge Lockhart.

I was accused of making an improper right turn from the inside lane in four lane traffic at 16th and Washington in Amarillo.

I called Connally just before lunch one day and told him about the ticket pointing out that the street was two lane at 16th and Washington and it would be impossible for me to have turned from an inside lane.

He said he'd go by and look at it on the way home to lunch and if this were true he would dismiss the case.

Three days later I received a summons to appear in Amarillo corporation court on a Wednesday, my busiest day. I fought a driving snowstorm to get there.

On the stand the ticketing officer admitted he was wrong and the ticket was dismissed. But I took a scolding from the judge for "badgering" the officer.

I don't hold it against Connally but I remember it.

I'm sure Connally did a good job for Amarillo on the bench and he might make the finest district judge in the world. I'm just saying a former corporation court judge carries an albatross in seeking any elective position.

Amarillo Annex Construction Eyed By Commission

County commissioners took a look Monday at preliminary plans for construction of a $400,000 courthouse annex in South Amarillo and are expected to have finalized plans shortly.

Art Vaughan of Vaughan-McMorries & Associates of Amarillo presented initial schematics to commissioners Monday after his firm conducted interviews with various county officials with functions in the South Amarillo annex.

It took commissioners only about 30 minutes to rearrange the schematics and Vaughan said he'll return next Monday with final preliminary drawings for approval.

The drawings presented Monday call for a large office and service area for the county tax assessor and a large office space for Randall County sheriff's deputies.

Sheriff Cliff Longest noted that several office areas are needed for his department because of the rapid growth being experienced by the South Amarillo area and the corresponding need for more deputies in the area.

In other business Monday, commissioners spent about two hours discussing the feasibility of converting the district and county clerk records to microfilm and using microfilm to record instruments in the offices.

Tom Boyer of Kodak Co. presented cost estimates for equipment which will be needed for the conversion. Total cost of the equipment will be about $21,000.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton was instructed by the court to draw up bid specifications for a microfilm system.

Boyer said once initial purchase of the microfilm equipment is made, monthly cost of the system will be relatively low, as little as $145 per month.

That monthly cost would compare with the current cost of a photostat system. Currently, the photostat system in the county clerk's office costs about $631 per month.

That monthly cost is due to rise to well above the $800 mark next year as the county is forced to seek bids from higher priced firms, Hutton told commissioners.

If the county chooses to use microfilming for recording instruments in the clerk's office, Randall County will become the first county in Texas to do so.

In other business, commissioners awarded a bid for a new automobile for the sheriff's department to Collins Motor Co. of Amarillo. The company's bid was $3567. Other bids ranged from $3630 to $3710.

Women Voters Launching Drive

The Amarillo League of Women Voters is opening a drive for new members and a campaign for funds from Canyon.

The League, which annually sponsors such items as a Voter's Guide and various other voter's information materials, is seeking more Canyon support. Currently, about six local women are members of the League. A Canyon woman, Mrs. Ann Asquith, is secretary of the organization.

Mrs. Asquith said the League participates in two kinds of activities: voters' services and program items. In their voters' services programs, the League issues non-partisan literature on candidates and various issues prior to election days.

In their program activities, the League studies various problems in the community, such as the need for a new $29 million hospital in Amarillo, and issues policy statements on the issues.

Currently, the League is seeking to raise about $4000 to help finance the various voters service materials they send out.

Mrs. Asquith said that League membership should be of interest to Canyon women since the League does not limit its study of issues to only those of Amarillo concern. She noted that the League is currently studying constitutional revision as well as other matters of state-wide interest.

Persons desiring to contribute to the League should contact Miss Laura Snyder, 3804 Paramount, Amarillo 79109. Persons desiring to become members of the group should contact Mrs. Asquith at 655-3026.

Madden To Speak On Texas Constitution

The Panhandle's area representative on the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission, Wales Madden of Amarillo, will speak on that commission's proposal at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the activities center ballroom on the West Texas State University campus.

Madden's speech will be sponsored by the Canyon Study Club and the department of political science at the university. Dr. Travis McBride, department head, will introduce Madden.

Following Madden's presentation on the work of the CRC, whose final proposal has become the basic document for drafting of a new state constitution for legislators in Austin, a discussion period will be conducted.

No admission charge will be levied and all local persons are invited to attend.

Madden will make his first appearance in Canyon on the CRC effort since the commission finished its draft in early November last year and submitted it to the state legislature for further work following Jan. 1. He has spoken to many other organizations in the Panhandle area on the CRC effort.

"We thought this would be a good time to inform Canyon residents of the proposed constitution since the legislature is currently meeting and residents will be better able to voice their opinions on the contents of the basic proposal if they know something about it," a spokesman for the Canyon Study Club said.

Madden is a partner in an Amarillo law firm and has served as a member of the Amarillo College board of regents, the University of Texas Committee of '75, the University of Texas board of regents, the University of Texas Board of Development and the board of trustees of Trinity University in San Antonio.

He is also a member of the legislative committee on faculty compensation in state universities and colleges, a member of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education, the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, the Legislative Committee on State-Local Relationships in financing the minimum foundation school program.

In addition, Madden is a member of the board of directors of Mesa Petroleum Co., the First National Bank of Amarillo, and Wainoco Oil and Chemicals Ltd.

He was named Outstanding Young Man of Amarillo in 1958. He was Amarillo Man of the Year in 1971 and is listed in Who's Who in America and Who's Who in American Education.

Refreshments were served to Velta Hord, Jean Irwin, Bettie Hunter, Marie Manley, Virginia Rossiter and Kay Thomas.

The club Valentine Ball started in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Hunter, where Mrs. Manley was crowned Queen, and Mrs. Hord pinned Princess.

The party then proceeded to the Country Barn in Amarillo, where the group dined and danced.

Those attending were Miss Rossiter, Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Manley, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Hord, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kuhlman.

Sykes To Bid For City Office

The first opposition candidate for a slot on the Canyon city commission filed for election Tuesday afternoon.

Charles E. Sykes, a native of Canyon, said he will run against incumbent H.R. Fulton Jr. on the April ticket.

Fulton is the first city commissioner up for election in April to draw opposition. Mayor Manly Bryan and Commissioner Jim Christopher have also filed for re-election to the board.

Sykes, who attended Canyon schools and is now a part-time student at West Texas State University, is an employee of Dorris Garage here. He is a 1967 graduate of Canyon High School.

Sykes said he's entering the race for several reasons.

"I don't feel it's right that there should be an election with three incumbents and nobody running against them in the first place," Sykes said.

He said the current commission is made up of men "who all have the same economic background and don't see both sides of all the issues.

"It's kind of like arguing with yourself," he said. "I feel like there's another side to the stories. I feel there's a general need for a new perspective."

Sykes and his wife, Lisa, live at 2622 12th Ave.

News Brief

The Canyon School District vocational advisory committee will meet at noon today at the Canyon Junior High School conference room. Focal point of discussion will be the vocational agriculture program in the local schools.

New Requirements Listed For Degrees

New requirements for students to meet to receive the bachelors degree from West Texas State University will go into effect this summer.

The new general education requirements of the university have been changed through committee action and approved by the WTSU curriculum committee and President Lloyd I. Watkins.

The new requirements will mean students will be required to take three hours fewer of English and two hours fewer of physical education to receive either a BA, BS or BBA or BFA degree from the university.

Dr. Ray A. Malzahn, academic vice president and chairman of the committee which drafted the requirements, said the new core curriculum is more categorized and provides more flexibility for students.

He noted that the requirements are those which are necessary for any baccalaureate degree at the university but that other requirements will be added for students who wish to obtain a specific degree. For example, for students to attain a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree, further required courses may be added to the core.

All students seeking a degree from the university must still take six hours of American or Texas history, six hours of political science and nine hours of English. They may take three to six hours of courses in the fine arts, humanities or communications and must take six to eight hours of natural sciences with laboratory.

In addition to the new requirements, the committee also recommended that the requirements be reviewed at least biennially and that consideration be given to the development of interdisciplinary courses for appropriate categories.

Malzahn said the new requirements reflect a compromise between what committee members felt were ideal requirements and those requirements possible for implementation at the university.

The committee recommendation says the requirements are based on the desire to give students the skills, concepts and appreciations "deemed desirable for a university-educated person."

Malzahn said the requirements will be completely compatible with junior college curricula in the area and will also be compatible with other senior colleges in the state.

He said he doesn't now know the impact the new requirements will have on staffing at the university, noting that many factors effect the number of teachers.

Canyon Area Listed In Texas Tour Guide

Sharply expanded package tours of Texas including the Canyon area described in two pamphlets for 1974, were put on the international market today by the Texas Tourist Development Agency and Gray Line Tours at Arlington, Tex.

Information on the tours will reach 9,000 travel agents worldwide for their use in selling Texas to clients interested in prearranged, one price travel opportunities. Each official "inclusive tour" assures that agent a sales commission, making it profitable for him to help market Texas.

Every region of the state is included among the packages listed in the 24-page 1974 Tours of Texas pamphlet. A companion — 8-page Texas Fishing & Hunting Safaris pamphlet is new this year, produced to help answer sportmen's growing public interest in Texas.

The TTDA developed the packages in cooperation with Gray Line, which acts as tour operator for all packages. Wayne Preston, Inc., of Dallas, is the fishing-hunting outfitter.

County Home Rule Article Blasted By Judge Pond

One county judge believes it would lead to rule by the Mafia. Another believes it is part of a communist plot to establish one-world rule.

County Judge Giles W. Dalby of Post told delegates to Texas' constitutional convention in Austin he believes an article in the proposed new Texas Constitution allowing home rule for counties "might encourage the Mafia to take over county government."

Dalby told the legislators he spoke for the West Texas and Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association.

While he may have spoken for those organizations in Austin, his ideas are a little too far out for Randall County Judge Woody Pond, who this week said he opposes inclusion in the constitution of a home rule article, but for different reasons.

Article IX of the proposed Texas Constitution revision says that counties with a population of more than 25,000 may adopt a home-rule charter if approved by the voters. Along with the charter, the voters could give the counties ordinance-making powers and could also change the number of elected officials, creating, eliminating or combining the duties and functions of the now elected office holders.

Pond opposes the idea, although he doesn't suspect its inclusion will lead to either Mafia or communist control.

"I don't think Randall County needs home rule," he says flatly. "I think it would be one of the worst things that could happen to county government."

Pond reflected the same kind of opposition that is stirring mounting controversy in Austin among county officials and delegates.

"Under the present setup, our type of government is fine," he said. "I don't think we have that many problems in our county."

Pond said he believes the establishment of appointive offices for county departments rather than a continuation of the elective official system would mean a less responsive government to the people.

"the people should have the right to elect just as it is now rather than have some high mogul sitting up here appointing them," he said. "We'll have a better, more stable government under the rules we have now."

Pond charged that if home rule is instituted and a county manager appointed, the county would be travelling the road to "metro government."

City Kids Return From Sick Leave

Canyon school children returned to classes Monday after a three-day holiday and it looked Tuesday as if they were back for good.

Classes in local schools were dismissed Friday due to a high absentee rate caused, school officials believed, by a persistent strain of influenza.

A school spokesman reported Tuesday that total absences in the schools was about 12 per cent Tuesday, well down from the 30 per cent level recorded last Thursday.

Normal absentee rate for the schools is around the 5 per cent level.

The registration table was decorated with a holiday valentine piece.

COUPLES DREW WHITE hearts and red hearts for partners. We had forty-two to play "Forty-Two:" Mary Jane Miller, Vivian Woods, Barbara Danner, Doll Edmonds, Eron and John Jennings, Billie and Wayne Pearson, Bernice and Henry Hamblen, Willa and Si Elliott, Ruby and Forrest Vise, Doris and Jack Foster, Myra Nell and Everett Culp, Joy and Roy Bryan, Nora and Dee Taylor, Mildred and Tom Gooch, Othella and Milton McGehee, Delores and Tom Wilhelm, Joan and Pete Odom, Judy and Roy Thompson, Mary and Vernon Wilhelm, Jo and Fay Hand, Vera and Bill Eubanks, Leona and Merl McFarland, and Mary Neal and Tom Henry.

THE SUNNYHILL HOME Demonstration Club met in my home on Thursday morning of last week. I served carrot cake, banana bread and coffee to Helen Bryan, Mary Wilhelm, Loy Doughtery, Phyllis and Darren Bryan, Jorja and David Smith, Joy Bryan, Gwynn and Melissa Tucek, Jo Hand, and the agent, Becky Hall.

IT WAS SNOWING right down as they arrived and some wondered if we'd even have it. I said, "Oh, yes, I've kept plenty of people during snow storms." But it didn't storm. It turned off pretty. We just barely got a ground cover of snow.

THE ROLL CALL was answered with "What I'd like to see on labels." You know what I said. I told them I wanted hamburger and patties to be marked PURE or what additives they had in them and whether they were AMERICAN or imported beef.

BECKY HALL PRESENTED a program on labeling. They will soon be giving the price per servings or pounds on the labels. This will help everyone in their shopping. I liked it.

JOY BRYAN GAVE the council report. The THDA District meeting will be in Borger in April. Registration and lunch is $3.30 (I think). The State THDA meeting is in Amarillo this year. I am so pleased. We will all have an opportunity to attend it. Those people from downstate can find out what this traveling is all about. (We always have had to go down there).

A CREDIT EXPERIENCE will be sponsored in the Activities Center on March 18th by the Extension Office. Everyone is invited to attend and test themselves on their knowledge of credit. . . even learn something, maybe.

DOTTIE FOSTER, JEANNE Johnson, Joy Freeman and Skip Simons attended the workshops of the Mini-Jaycee and Jaycee-Ette Convention in Amarillo last Saturday. They attended the Family Life and Leadership workshops. Dottie and Dick Foster, Jeanne and Ronnie Johnson, Kay and Vincent Venhaus and Judy and Gene Shipman returned that evening for the banquet and social of the convention.

THE LARRY STEVENS family has moved into Mrs. Stevens home just east of Montene and Clifford Stevens. Larry will be farming during the coming year.

JUDGE JACK DRISKILL and A.M. "Slim" Billington were injured in a one car accident just west of Abilene last Thursday. Jack received severe back injuries and will remain at Abilene about two weeks before it will be possible to move him. Both are in Hendricks Memorial Hospital.

T. L. FORE is in Northwest Texas Hospital after recent surgery. Remember Mr. Fore.

TOOTSIE AND GEORGE Denny have flown to San Francisco to attend the Rural Electric Convention with a group. Cone and Sweetie Johnson also made the trip and plan to return by Los Angeles to visit Sweetie's sister, Gladys Bates.

LEONA AND MERL McFarland attended the Mini-Market in Amarillo Sunday. They will be traveling to Dallas this weekend. Mr. and Mrs. C.D. Taylor have also made plans to attend the Dallas market this time.

JOE BOB JONES has been named Manager of the Year for Taylor-Evans Farm Stores and has a trophy, a plaque and a gold watch to show for that achievement. Joe Bob has been manager of the Happy store since 1967 and is also a city commissioner. Joe Bob and his wife, Linda, and two daughters, Vicki, 10, and Karen, 5, moved to Happy from Muleshoe. They now reside at 108 N. Western in Happy and attend the First Baptist Church of Happy. Congratulations, Joe Bob!

SHERI AND I attended the art show at the Camelot Inn. Several Happy people have attended and several Happy artists have paintings on display there. These were accepted for display and possible sale for showing.

HAPPY ARTISTS RECENTLY had a jewelry demonstration by Jim Moreland. He made an Indian ring showing the tools and methods involved and then presented the ring to the program chairman for the evening, Ernestine Danner.

THE HAPPY ARTISTS will be included in the art hangings at the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock during the month of March.

VOLLEYBALL PRACTICE IS underway for the coming volleyball tournaments. The Booster Club will host one and so will the Happy Volunteer Fire Department. The first of these is about the middle of March.

HAPPY JAYCEES ARE making final plans for their auction which will be February 23rd at the Toles Memorial Baseball Park in Happy. Consignment advertisements should be out soon.

HAPPY 4-H MET on Monday evening in the Happy Jaycee Hall. Bob Pulsipher gave a program on the procedures of banking. Raphe Shipman and Eddie Joe Pearson served refreshments of brownies and punch to the group.

THE BIGGEST AND happiest news is the Penn twins, a boy and a girl, born to David and Kaye Penn last Wednesday, February 6th about 3 a.m. Laurie Lynn weighed four pounds fifteen ounces. John David weighed five pounds three ounces. Mother and daddy have their hands full. Congratulations! Kaye was given a baby shower in Happy only a few days before this big event.

ANGELIQUE HENRY SPENT the night with Genora Jackson on Friday of last week. Genie has some interesting walkie-talkies.

JEANNE JOHNSON ENTERTAINED the G.A.'s in her new home on Wednesday of last week. The girls were so excited and Jeanne decided that if the house stood the test, it was of good construction.

OUR PASTOR, BROTHER Paul Heil, will be participating in a revival in Wapato, Washington February 24 to March 4th. Remember Brother Paul during this time and the preparation for it.

THE REVIVAL IN the First Baptist Church is April first through seventh. The pastor of the James Avenue Baptist Church of Ft. Worth, Dr. Frankie Rainey, will be the evangelist. Keep this date in mind.

THE THIRD GRADE has a valentine on the door which features Snoopy lying on his back on the top of the heart, as he does his dog house, and the caption reads, "Every day is Valentine's Day for those of us who are basically lovable."

HAPPY VALENTINE'S DAY to you. Be especially sweet to your beau. . . even if you've been married to him/her for twenty to fifty. . . maybe more, years. And a very happy Valentine's Day to you from this columnist.

MILDRED DEVIN WILL teach the second part of the study of Colossians in my home this evening at eight o'clock. See you there!

HAPPY JAYCEE-ETTES BLOOD Clinic is today, 4 to 6 p.m. at the J.C. Hall. Everyone is welcome.

See ya!

More MVC Games This Week For Buffs

West Texas State University's basketball team travels to Wichita, Kan., and Denton for a pair of important Missouri Valley Conference games this week.

The Buffaloes of coach Ron Ekker will carry a 3-4 conference record with them when they face Wichita State's Shockers tonight. North Texas State's rapidly improving Eagles will host the Buffaloes Saturday night in Denton.

West Texas split even in MVC games at home last week — beating St. Louis, 58-53, and losing to first place Louisville, 81-62.

The Wichita State Shockers also have a 3-4 conference mark. They are 8-11 for the year, while the Buffaloes have a 9-8 season record.

Reginald Ramey, West Texas State's 6-8 sophomore center, continues to lead the team in scoring — hitting 16.5 points per game. He is the team's third leading rebounder with a 7.9 average.

Howard Taylor, 6-2 forward-guard, is scoring 14.6 points per game for the season to hold second place on the team. Joe Cosey is hitting 13.4 points per game and continues to pace the club in rebounding, despite the fact he is a guard. The 6-4 Cosey is averaging 8.5 rebounds per game.

Dallas Smith, 6-8 sophomore junior college transfer from Des Moines, Iowa, is scoring 8.8 points and averaging 8.2 rebounds.

Detroit freshman Mark Mayberry, the point guard, is scoring 2.5 points per game for the season, but has a 3.2 scoring mark in Valley games.

The Shockers have been led by 6-2 senior guard Bob Wilson and 6-4 post man Richard Morsden. Wilson leads the team with a 16.9 scoring average.

Starting at guard with Wilson is 5-9 sophomore Calvin Bruton, who started last year as a freshman. He is scoring 11.7 points per game.

Bill Lang, a rugged 6-5 senior, starts at one forward is averaging 7.9 points per game.

Neil Stram, 6-7, usually starts on the Shocker front line, but may not draw a starting assignment because of a bruised heel. He played 10 minutes in Saturday's game with St. Louis and scored eight points.

Should Stram not start, Shocker coach Harry Miller will probably go with either 6-8 sophomore Doug Yoder or 6-6 sophomore Mike Edgar at the other inside position.

Morsden leads the team in rebounding with an 8.7 average.

Blue-jean clad players rehearse for the upcoming Canyon High School musical, "No, No Nanette," slated for production March 1 and 2 at the school. The high-steppin' story of the good life in the 1920's is the first production to come out of a new quarter course in musical production being offered this spring at CHS. The class is offered jointly by the drama, music and art departments at the high school.

Palisades Palaver

By MILDER TURNER

I AM SORRY I missed you last week, did you miss me? Some have called and said so. Instead of this sickness hitting all of us, it has hit one or two at a time. The girls had sore throats, headaches, then Grandson Heath and I had it. I had sore throat, chills and balls of fire (eye balls). Little Heath just lay for two days. Every household I have talked with has not been untouched except June Hooker said they had not had it.

FEBRUARY 3RD WAS Stacy Penny's birthday. On the preceding Friday night the Grand girls planned a slumber party. The girls had hot dogs with all the trimmings (trimmings lasting until around 3:30 a.m.!). Refreshments just before midnight was a lovely white cake decorated with red roses served with milk or punch which Stacy's mother had had baked. Several of the girls played the piano, sang, danced, played all sorts of games. I laughed until I hurt as they presented several skits and plays in full costumes. Their acting ability was greatly portrayed as they presented several plays (found in an old fashioned reader) under the direction of Sheree Turner. About half the girls were in the cast while the remainder of us were the audience. Later, there was wall to wall girls as Stacy and Jana Penny, Laura, Julie and Cathy Webb, Christy Fleming, Susie and Jeanne McDonald, Ranelle and Michelle Walker lay on their sleeping bags in the den. After pancakes, one more game (out of doors) and a hike the girls all scattered around noon-thirty.

THE THIRD THURSDAY of this month (Feb. 21) the Palisades ladies will meet with sack lunch, 11 a.m., at the Palisades church for a dough art session to be presented by Beverly Norman. These are always such fun, so don't miss.

WOULD SOME ONE please call and give details of the ski parties?. I've heard a few rumors.

OUR GREATEST SYMPATHY to the family of Jimmy Oglesby, our former neighbor, at this time of mourning his untimely death.

JUDY AND GENE Webb, Chris and Clay Lindsey were in Houston the last week of January for the motorcycle races. Along with the races they enjoyed playing air hockey, and a day on the beach. They did not go swimming (it was not that warm) but did enjoy the ships. The two couples went gallivanting around Galveston a couple of days before returning home. They had so much fun they plan to return with their families before too long.

THERE WILL BE a Sweetheart Banquet at the Palisades church on Friday evening at 7 p.m. This is sponsored by the young people. The meat is being prepared, each one attending is to bring a covered dish and everyone of you are invited. I know this will be a wonderful time of fellowship and feasting. See you there.

I DEEPLY APPRECIATE the letters and questionnaires sent out by the Palisades board. I plan to give it my undivided attention.

I DON'T REALLY like this new speed limit or the time change. My light bill is higher than ever since I've been out here. I turn my furnace up earlier and stay up until my old bones tell me to go to bed (as always) and I am too dumb to see the good it does, getting the family out so early. Most traffic accidents are caused by those breaking the speed limit and will still be caused by the same type people. I do think car pools are great and the cutting down in many ways helps but my heart goes out to these poor truckers, their companies. Just like Judy Webb was saying about the Houston trip: "It took three hours longer to make the trip so the gas saved by the new speed limit was used in those three extra hours of driving!"

BY THE WAY, if you need an extra phone book stop by here and pick it up.

See u next week

Lamesa Tackle Signs With WT

Trip Chastain, an all-state tackle from Lamesa, has signed a Missouri Valley Conference letter of intent with coach Gene Mayfield's West Texas State University Buffaloes.

The 6-3, 225-pound lineman signed with Buffalo assistant Ronnie Mankin.

Chastain started as an offensive tackle for three years at Lamesa High. He earned all-district honors as a junior. This past season he was named all-district, All-South Plains and first team Class AAA all-state.

"Trip is smart, has good size and is quick," said Lamesa coach Tom Koger. "He runs a consistent 5-flat time in the 40-yard dash and once ran a 4.9."

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Chastain maintains a high B and low A average in the classroom. His father is the superintendent of schools at Lamesa.

Local Named TMEA Veep

Dr. George E. Umberson, head of the department of music at West Texas State University, was elected vice president of the college division of Texas Music Educators Association at the organization's 50th convention-clinic held here Feb. 7-9.

Elected to a two-year term, Dr. Umberson replaces Dr. David McGuire of Denton in the position.

Bill Cormack of Midland, who served as president-elect, assumed the office of TMEA president at the close of the convention. Cormack succeeds J.W. King of Canyon in the office.

Also elected to a two-year term was Bill J. Dean of Odessa, band division vice president.

Remaining on the executive committee for another year are Barbara F. Eads, Houston, orchestra vice president; James A. Moore, Irving, vocal vice president; and Ruth Merrill, Cleburne, elementary vice president.

Dr. Umberson, a graduate of Eastern New Mexico University, received his M.A. degree from University of Iowa and his Ed.D. degree from University of Northern Colorado.

His teaching experience includes positions at Tucumcari and Roswell High Schools in New Mexico and at Pepperdine and Eastern New Mexico Universities. He has been chosen outstanding faculty member at ENMU.

Dr. Umberson is a member of American Choral Directors Association, serving as southwestern division president; Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia; and Greater Southwest Music Festival, serving as president.

Donation Drive Set For Heart Sunday

A residential drive for contributions to the heart fund will commemorate Heart Sunday Feb. 17. Members of social sororities at West Texas State University and members of the University Study Club will conduct the drive, making the total number of volunteers about 120. The drive will be conducted from 4-5 p.m.

Mrs. Nolan Hensen, who is in charge of the drive, said that anyone who wishes to help canvass for the drive should call her at 655-4613.

If no one is at home when a canvass member stops, information and donation envelopes will be left at the home. Mrs. Hensen said that the distribution of information about heart disease is being stressed this year as much as the contributions.

Individual contributions to the heart fund may be sent also to Post Office Box 464.

In commemoration of Memorial Day in May, stuffers on heart disease will be mailed in the bank statements of the First National Bank and the West Texas State Bank.

Mrs. Hensen said that in the continuing program and educational endeavors, plans are being finalized to conduct a Blood Pressure Clinic for Canyon residents this summer.

Census Eyes Employment

The Bureau of the Census will conduct its regular monthly survey in the Canyon area on employment and unemployment during the week of Feb. 18-22, according to Percy R. Millard, Director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in Dallas.

The Bureau is part of the U.S. Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration.

Local households in the survey are among the 50,000 nationwide that have been scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all households.

The survey is taken by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor, which analyses and publishes the results each month. The Labor Department reported that the December survey showed a rise in unemployment — up to 4.9 per cent from 4.7 per cent in November, after reaching a 3½ year low of 4.5 per cent in October. Employment was little changed, following substantial gains earlier in 1973.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is confidential by law and results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Gene Howe News

Gene Howe Columnist III

GUEST AUTHOR. . . WHO could it be, ole Bill Shakespeare, William Buckley, Elizabeth Barrett Browning or who? ? ? ? But then who really cares. The point in hand is that our dedicated editorialist has taken temporary residency at Northwest Texas Hospital in big Amarillo. And now, after having been Special Treats Chairman for the Auxiliary there, she will be able to report first hand on the goings-on, as a consumer, as those medical people say, rather than a provider. So, first off, a big get well wish to you — Troyce — from all your friends in Gene Howe land. And, far be it from me to take advantage of a dear friend who certainly, not of her own volition, will be unable to do this by-line for at least one more week, but now just might be the opportunity to say "thanks" Troyce for your many contributions, not only to the press through the Gene Howe by-line, and being immediate past president of the Gene Howe PTA for two years, but for all your contributions in Canyon that make this a more delightful way to pass.

UNDERSTAND THEY HAD the Big Spell Down, went eight rounds, at Gene Howe Monday night. There were 32 students from the fourth through the sixth grades and finally narrowed it down to seven who will represent Gene Howe in Canyon proper in the Randall County Spelling Bee on March 20th. Those seven are: Terry Miller, Debra Drost, Kendall Young, Molly Dudenhoeffer, Mike Martindale, Carla Schmidt, and Eddie Sauer. First alternate will be Teena Berry and second alternate will be Tammy Tucker. So lots of luck to each of the participants and we will be awaiting the results. Guess it isn't even necessary to say. . . study hard. . . so won't.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO Abe on the 12th — he sure made his mark.

CONGRATULATIONS TO DAVID Johnson, son of the Karl Johnsons who now reside in Sunday Canyon for being crowned "Football King." They could have just asked us and we would have told them anyway, eh what? Seriously, a real honor to David and we can take pride in the fact that he put in six good years at Gene Howe, not all in one grade — only one in each.

UNDERSTAND THAT RALPH and Judy Gibson are moving into the Vick house on Greenhaven next to the Donnie Palmers. Welcome to the neighborhood and word has it that they have two girls, Gay, who is six and April, who is nine. Word also has it that Mr. Gibson is the Choir Director at Paramount Baptist Church in Amarillo. Welcome aboard ship, maties.

CONGRATULATIONS TO WES Bromley's basketball team who won over the Lamar Blue Sunday last, with a score of 26 to 20.

WANT TO REMIND y'all of the talent show in Canyon on Saturday night the 16th, at the junior high, I believe. Several Gene Howe groups are entering and let's take this chance to wish them lots of luck.

MANY OF US will be saddened by the news that the John Doziers will be moving to the Dallas-Fort Worth area in the near future. They call that the Metri-plex on the news media. Can we even number the hours that Betty has given for the youth and PTA? They will be missed. Looks like we could come up with a name for the Amarillo-Canyon area.

AS YOU MAY or may not know, our lovely Raydelle Palmer has been re-elected for a second term as president of the Northwest Texas Auxiliary for the 74-75 year. Glenna Schmidt is co-chairman of the gift shop at the Pavillion, Darlene Campbell is special treats chairman, replacing Troyce M., who we have already established as a patient and consumer, and Gwen Sellers is historian and Pauline Hefley is in charge of publicity. Congratulations ladies for taking such an active part in the real worthwhile part of life — that of doing for someone else.

DID YOU HAVE a nice Valentine's Day? Hope so.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE Bailey's fifth grade basketball team who won over Western Plateau with a score of 24 to 4.

THIS IS THE Boy Scouts of America 64th birthday and Pact 130 will have their annual Blue and Gold Banquet on the 21st at 7 p.m. at Gene Howe.

IT WAS EXCITING to learn that the Canyon school system is going to offer a community service program under the direction of Dr. Ken Hart. The PTA at Gene Howe will be working with him and a survey will be made shortly as to the type of classes that will be available and most desirable in our community. To me this is getting that thing called education real pragmatic — agree? ? We'll keep you posted on this project as it develops.

HOW ABOUT THAT Betty Stokes — had her new baby, Daniel, at the PTA meeting last night.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY TO Gene and Gail Betty — how many years has it been?

TRACI BUFKIN AND Cindy Todd recently were initiated into the Order of Rainbow for girls in Canyon on Jan. 28th. Do you know the colors of the rainbow? Well, Rainbow Girls do — just ask me — or Traci or Cindy. That's one thing you never forget. And, isn't it something, the same rainbow occasionally appears even today that appeared so long ago after the great flood to remind mankind that God would never destroy the world by water. A good organization and really helps the little darlings develop in areas of real value.

WELL, UNDERSTAND WE have a real fisherman in our community — one Donnie Palmer. Seems he joined several other men for a deep sea fishing trip off the coast of Galveston. But alas and alack, Donnie spent his time prostrate in his cabin sea-sick. Says only fish he saw was one that one of the men caught that he saw through the porthole. As a matter of fact, he felt so sea-sick he thought he would surely die and have to be buried at sea. Well, some can handle it and some can't. Let's face it, Donnie, you're just a "flatlander."

TWO FORMER GENE Howe students hit the ski slopes recently. Vicki Forehand went with her church group and Alexis Hefley went with Post 31 of Canyon. Both had a good time, however, that Alexis returned with a broken thumb which was rather disconcerting to her basketball coach, that spiffy Dianna Lewis. (Doesn't help her tennis game either).

TRACI BUFKIN IS now a teenager. She celebrated number 13 on the same day as ole Abe. Hope you had a real "Happy."

A BELATED "HAPPY" to Pauline Hefley, who was 38 on the 6th. Heard she told her husband, "Honey, I'm just like good wine, I improve with age."

THIS IS "HEART WEEK" and someone will be asking YOU to support your Heart Association by a donation. So, give freely. Over 54% of all the deaths of the American people are due to some type of cardio-vascular disease and through our support, with time, talent, and money, we can soon curtail the nation's number one killer. So, please respond generously.

GOTTA SIGN OFF. Troyce, thanks for the use of your hall and we'll be glad to get you back.

WHAT HAVE YOU done lately, that can be printed. . . call 655-4235 — pmh

Teacher Exams Set In April

The National Teacher Examinations will be administered on April 6, 1974, at West Texas State University, which has been designated as a test center.

According to Dr. Kenneth Waugh, Director of Testing and Counseling Center, many college seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for certification, licensure, or those seeking positions in school systems which encourage or require the NTE will be taking the tests. In addition, the designation of West Texas State University as a test center for these examinations will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance on the examinations with candidates throughout the country who take the tests, Dr. Waugh said.

Last year approximately 100,000 candidates took the examinations which are designed to assess cognitive knowledge and understanding in professional education, general education and subject-field specialization. The examinations, which are prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey, are limited to assessment of those aspects of teacher education that are validly and reliably measured by well constructed paper-and-pencil tests.

Bulletins of Information describing registration procedures and containing Registration Forms as well as sample test questions may be obtained from the Testing and Counseling Center or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

Two Locals Join Groups At University

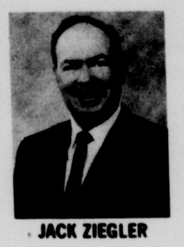

Two West Texas State University students have joined sororities on the campus.

Jan Wieck, Umbarger sophomore, has become a member of Lambda Mu Mathematical Honor Society. Miss Wieck is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.J. Wieck, Rt. 1, Box 356. She is a mathematics major.

Becky Haley, Canyon senior, has become president of Alpha Delta Pi. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Haley Jr., Box 928. Miss Haley is a biology major.

Lambda Mu is the organization that interests students in the field of mathematics and makes them aware of opportunities in the field. New pledges must be enrolled in a math course, have a 2.0 in math and 1.5 overall.

Alpha Delta Pi is the national philanthropic project of the Delta Lambda Chapter which is designed to work with handicapped children.

in Texas and New Mexico is one of the 10 proposed for study.

He said the feasibility study must be accomplished by Jan. 1, 1975 and the THD study will be completed well before that date.

The department is to determine, he said, to what standards U.S. 60 should be upgraded, if upgrading is required.

In other words, he said, the study will determine whether U.S. 60 should remain a state highway or should become a part of the federal highway system.

Traffic studies as well as cost estimates will be incorporated in the feasibility effort.

Primarily, he said, the department's role will be to determine the needs of the area in determining whether or not U.S. 60 should be upgraded.

Light noted that even if the department report decides that U.S. 60 should become an Interstate highway, it will be up to Congress to make the designation and appropriate money for upgrading.

Light said persons attending the March 19 public hearing will be asked to voice their interest in the project and will be asked for input on feasibility.

Eventual incorporation of the highway into the interstate system has been a goal of the New Mexico and Texas officials working on the project for several years.

The New Mexico delegation has said it believes it has the support for that incorporation from New Mexico Sen. Joseph Montoya. Texas Congressional representatives have also voiced an interest in the project.

lots of permits issued," Loudder said. "Maybe that has something to do with it. This is usually a slow time for new housing permits."

Loudder retained his optimism that 1974 will prove to be equally as construction oriented as was 1973.

"From what the developers are saying I suspect we'll have reasonable growth this year," he said.

Residential construction in Canyon during 1973 set a record with phenomenal increases in the number of residences built as compared to 1972 and 1971.

Residential building during '73 was up 84 per cent over 1971. It was up 60 per cent over 1972.

Permits were issued during 1973 for construction of 69 homes. That compares to 43 permits issued in 1972 and 37 issued in 1971.

Local developers have also said they see no reason to believe the housing boom in Canyon will abate this year. Expansion is seen in several newer housing additions in the city.

Fed. Fuel Cutbacks Put Postman On Foot

Neither snow nor sleet nor hail can impede the delivery of the U.S. mail. But, the federal government's mandated cutback in fuel useage may.

George Stevens, assistant postmaster in Canyon, said Tuesday Canyon mailmen are returning to the use of foot-power to make their appointed rounds in the city after a four-year break when they largely used Jeep vehicles.

With the return to foot-power, the mailmen are also returning to the use of large mail bags, items discarded when the Jeeps were sent to Canyon to save wear and tear on postmen as well as funds spent to pay gas mileage for mailmen who used their own vehicles.

Stevens said the U.S. Postal Service has passed down a directive that calls for a 20 per cent reduction in gasoline useage for the local post office.

Only six vehicles are used by the post office here — five Jeeps for city route mailmen and one large truck for parcels and bulk mail transit.

Stevens said the only way to effect a savings in gasoline useage at the local level was to cutback useage of the Jeep vehicles and put postmen on their feet again.

Actually, the system worked out will be a modified foot-and-Jeep system with postmen still driving the Jeeps on their routes, but covering their routes primarily on foot. The Jeeps will be used more as depositories of mail to which the mailmen will return to replenish their newly-donned mail bags.

Stevens said the new system, which is to go into effect late this week or the early part of next week, will have some affect on mail service to city residents.

He said the primary affect will be a change in times for mail delivery. He predicted that mail will arrive later at some residences than it has in the past.

He said another affect could be that parcels will be delivered separately from the regular first and third class mail since postmen may choose to deliver large parcels in their vehicles after they've covered their routes on foot.

The Canyon post office received its Jeep vehicles in 1970 and the vehicles have been used by postmen for making city deliveries.

Stevens said the new system will have no impact on rural deliveries or city business deliveries. Nor will routes be changed.

News Brief

Inflation and its relationship to gold will be the topic of discussion tonight when Don Max Vars, president of Canyon's First National Bank, speaks to the Canyon Political Action Group.

Vars will speak at 7 p.m. today at the bank.

New board directors will be elected during the meeting.

Garbage. . .

He suggests that residents of areas with no alleys be required to leave their garbage containers at curb-side for service on specific days of collection.

Besides the length of time necessary to collect garbage in the non-alley areas, Loudder also cites another problem in connection with the current mode of collection in those areas. He says that the fact that city employees must go onto private property presents a serious liability in light of recent tort claims laws.

Loudder indicates in his report that further recommendations will be forthcoming later this year concerning a change to a new system of trash collection.

Terming the current system "a hybrid," Loudder said the use of compatible equipment for collection of garbage could eliminate the need for extra employees and cut salary costs for the city.

Loudder recommends the city continue to require 32-gallon garbage cans for all residential customers, but indicates he may ask commissioners to require the cans be mounted on racks.

The recommendations on new trash rates and services were proposed after a lengthy study at city hall, a study which also points up the need to establish the city's sanitation department as an enterprise fund, making the department pay its own way without the addition of tax revenues.

The increase in fees is a step toward making the department self-sufficient.

Loudder said the rate structure particularly for commercial customers "has never been adequate."

He said the structure has its basis in a 1958 ordinance, an ordinance which has been interpreted in various ways by city managers.

"The rate is now not equitable or consistent," he said. "The rates have no relevance to the cost of providing the service."

of the bar lost his license to sell alcoholic beverages as a result of the incident.

Several of the students involved are over 18 years of age, the legal age of majority in the state of Texas.

Mrs. Warwick. . .

served as regent of the Esther McCrory chapter of the DAR.

"When I first came to Canyon there were only three men who owned cars," she once remembered.

C.O. Keiser was associated with The Canyon News about the time Grace Winkleman arrived here. It was he who brought to Canyon a young journalism graduate from Iowa State University to be editor and manager.

Clyde Warwick edited The News for 45 years. He and Grace Winkleman were married Dec. 21, 1911.

"I'll never forget our first automobile," Mrs. Warwick once reminisced. "We thought we were really traveling when it took two days of hard driving to get to Dallas."

Mrs. Warwick wrote her own column in the paper which she called "Around the Town." This column was chosen as the best of its kind in the state.

Mrs. Warwick chronicled the history of the community through stories of pioneers then she wrote a complete history of Randall County in 1969 called "The Randall County Story."

The Warwicks bought the newspaper in 1920 and sold it to their son-in-law, A.C. Haley Jr., in 1955.

Mrs. Warwick was superintendent of schools at Dimmitt during World War I when her husband was away in the service. Following that she taught second grade in Canyon one year.

Mrs. Warwick for many years was a member of the Panhandle Plains Historical Society. She served as president of the women's organization of the American Legion, president of the West Texas State University Ex-Students Association, Woman's Book Club and the Canyon Garden Club. The garden club was organized in her home.

She was a member of the Methodist Church and served as president of the Woman's Missionary Society the year the present church building was built. She also taught classes for college young people and young married college people.

She was Chamber of Commerce representative for welcoming newcomers to Canyon and served on the city park board. She took great pride in Conner Park.

She also served on the health board, the cemetery board and the Potter and Randall County TB board. When the Community Concert was established, she served on its first board.

With all her activities, Mrs. Warwick played tournament golf for several years.

Once in her column she wrote about some of the things in life which she hoped would always thrill her and in closing penned:

"... And when I can no longer thrill to these, the joys that now complete my life, then give me patience, God, to bear my cross until the fire that burns within my soul consumes the clay that can no longer feel."

Funeral services for Mrs. Warwick will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon (Thursday) in First United Methodist Church with Rev. Bill Kent, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Dreamland Cemetery under direction of LaGrone Funeral Home.

The family has requested that memorials be sent to the First United Methodist Church building fund, the Clyde Warwick scholarship fund at WTSU or to a favorite charity.

Pallbearers will be Dr. Ples Harper, Dr. James P. Cornette, Woody Pond, Meredith Warren, O.W. Parker, Jr., Boone McClure, David West and Bill Downing.

Survivors include a son, Gerald Warwick, Canyon; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Haley, also of Canyon; three sisters, Miss Audra Winkleman and Mrs. H. Grady Richards, both of Florence, Ala., and Mrs. Sadie Taylor of Seattle, Wash.; a brother, Ben Winkleman of Amarillo; and five grandchildren, Ann Warwick of Hereford, Sandy Warwick of Canyon, Mrs. Bob Leveridge of Noble, Okla., Rebecca Haley of Canyon and Dennis Haley of Greenbelt, Md.; and one great-granddaughter, Julianna Leveridge of Noble, Okla.

Altar Society, Mothers Meet

By REBA RAEF

ST. MARY'S ALTAR Society and Christian Mothers held their regular meeting February 5. The supper and social, which followed the meeting, was well attended. During the business session, members voted to change the March meeting from March 5 to March 11, if March 5 falls in Public School Week. More on this later. After the meeting, members and their husbands enjoyed card games and "42."

THE UMBARGER VOLUNTEER Fire Department answered several calls just recently. They went to the Melvin McClure farm, just West of Canyon, to put out a hay stack. They put out a grass fire behind Vincent's Package Store, and last Thursday, they were called to the home of Mrs. Winona Reynolds, to extinguish a fire in the well house. Mrs. Reynolds was at work at the time, so the well house is a total loss.

LAST FRIDAY EVENING, Richard and Lillian Friemel and daughter, Valerie and L.J. and Mary Wieck and daughter, Jan, all went to Groom to attend the wedding of Harold Bertrand and Miss Kathy Kay Kuehler. Harold is the nephew of the two women. After the wedding, they visited overnight with Richard's brother and his wife, Ted and Mary Lee Friemel.

POSTMASTER AMALIA BRACHT reminds us that if you are preparing your own income tax returns, she has the I.R.S. Publication #17 for sale in the Post Office, which will answer most of your questions. She also has large envelopes, as well as the padded ones, for your mailing convenience.

BERNARD HARTMAN AND several friends have returned from a fishing trip to Lake Amistad, down near Del Rio. They caught enough bass for several meals. They also went across to Old Mexico and spent several hours sight seeing there. Bernard reports that his boat handles real well and that the lake was real rough on Friday. Accompanying Bernard were Albert Hartman, from Nazareth; John Kratchovil, Ed Albers, Ed Dobbs and Dr. Bob Mager, from Amarillo. They returned home on Sunday evening.

THE CHILI SUPPER and Bingo and Valentine party held last Saturday night in the parish hall, was well attended. Alice Koch won the door prize and Elaine Frische won the prize for guessing the number of candy hearts in an apothecary jar. Every fifth game of Bingo was played for a heart shaped box of candy. The party was sponsored by St. Mary's Altar Society and Christian Mothers.

MRS. JOE FISCHBACHER is home, following major surgery in Neblett Memorial Hospital last week. Glennis' mother, Mrs. Hubert Rowland from Delano, Calif., is spending some time here with the Fischbachers. We wish you a speedy recovery, Glennis.

MRS. W. P. Janssen is a patient in Neblett Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Janssen had surgery Tuesday morning. Get well wishes for you, Olive.

BELATED "HAPPY ANNIVERSARY" wishes to Marion and Suzy Hicks, who were married eight years last Saturday. Helping the Hicks celebrate were Vincent and Gladys Meyer.

WE HOPE OUR granddaughter, Michelle Raef, who lives in Amarillo, will soon be over the chicken pox.

DON'T FORGET THE volleyball tournament, to be held in Umbarger on March 7th, 8th and 9th. The telephone committee will soon contact the people who will work at the tournament.

WT Golfers To Lubbock

West Texas State University's golf team will travel to Lubbock this afternoon for a match against Texas Tech University.

Buffalo coach Vern Farquhar will take six players for the match play event.

Senior Jerry Boeka will play in the number one position. Dallas senior Andy Lawler is the number two Buffalo golfer. Richard Wolf, Borger freshman, will play in the number three position. Other Buffaloes, in order of number, are Junior Salinas, Randall Burton and Max Tenorio.

There will be nine points out for each of the three foursomes playing in the match at Hillcrest Country Club. Boeka will play the Tech number one player and there will be three points out on that match — one for each of the nine holes and one for the 18-hole match. Then Boeka and Lawler will match their scores against the first and second Tech players.

The Buffaloes are slated to play Friday and Saturday, Feb. 22-23, at the Fort Worth Recreation Tournament. Farquhar will take five players on that trip.

City To Eye Building Plan

Canyon city commissioners will meet at 5:30 p.m. Friday to look at alternative solutions to a proposed skylight in the planned new city hall complex.

Commissioners will meet with representatives of HD&R architectural and engineering firm of Dallas. The architects are to present facts and figures on problems which might be encountered by constructing a new city hall complex with a bronze-glass skyline.

Commissioner Jim Christopher has been the primary critic of inclusion of the skylight in plans for the complex.

The meeting will be at the city hall annex rather than at the community center.

Deadline For Pageant Nears

The deadline to enter the 5th Annual Miss Canyon Pageant is Feb. 20.

The pageant, which is set for March 9 at the Canyon High School Auditorium, is open to all Canyon High School girls.

Emcee for the show, which is sponsored by the Canyon Study Club, is Dean Kelley.

Mrs. Bryan Poff is publicity chairman for the show. Anyone needing information about the pageant may also call Mrs. Patsy Kendrick, Mrs. Sandra McRoberts, or Mrs. Gayle Gray, pageant chairman.

Already entered in the contest are Judy McBroom, Carol Coleman, Anna Bland Thompson, Eloise Thompson, Roma Johnson and Becky Blewitt.

There will be no bathing suit competition in the pageant. The winner will be chosen on the basis of poise and personality.

Girls To Vie In Volleyball At WT Tourney

The West Texas State University chapter of Delta Psi Kappa is resuming its annual sponsorship of an area high school girls volleyball tournament to be held Friday and Saturday in the Field House.

Participating Golden Spread high schools will be Phillips, Tascosa, Borger, Caprock, Amarillo, Hereford, Palo Duro and Pampa.

Play begins Friday at 4 p.m. and Saturday at 9:30 a.m., with finals at 2:30 p.m. and the last game at 7 o'clock Saturday night. Awards will be first, second and third place trophies.

Senior volleyball team members will officiate.

Delta Psi Kappa is a woman's honorary physical education fraternity for college students only. Members must have at least a two point on a three point scale grade average to join. Delta Psi Kappa is also known for its annual work for the Multiple Schlerosis Fund Drive in March, and its co-sponsorship with the Women's Athletic Association of "Play Day" for elementary students in the fall.

Looking over applications for entry into the Miss Canyon Pageant are entrants, left to right standing, Roma Johnson, Eloise Thompson, Carol Coleman, and Anna Bland Thompson. Seated is Mrs. Bryan Poff of the Canyon Study Club. The Study Club is sponsoring the contest which is scheduled for March 9.

WT Tracksters, Unbeaten at Home, Will Host Oklahoma State Saturday

West Texas State University's track team, unbeaten in a pair of home meets this year, will host strong Oklahoma State University in an indoor meet at 6:45 p.m. Saturday in the Activities Center.

Oklahoma State is the only team to defeat West Texas State in a home meet inside since the Buffaloes started running indoor track at the Activities Center over three years ago.

OSU halted the Buffaloes in a dual meet last year for that one loss.

The Buffaloes defeated Wayland Baptist College and Lubbock Christian College two weeks ago and last week halted New Mexico State and the University of Texas-Arlington in a meet.

"Oklahoma State is extremely strong in the distance races, with several quality people in all events from the quarter on up," said Buffalo coach Bob Kitchens.

The Buffaloes have been led by hurdler-sprinter Carl Brown, long jumper George Fuller, vaulters Mike Walker and Tommy Humphries and shot men Dennis Briggs and Marvin Self.

Brown will run both the 60-yard high hurdles, the 50-yard intermediates and the 60-yard dash. He is unbeaten in hurdle events this year at West Texas State. He placed fourth in the United States Track and Field Federation Indoor Championships three weeks ago in Oklahoma City. In that meet he ran the 60-yard high hurdles in 7.3.

Fuller set a new Buffalo indoor mark in the long jump last week with a 22-11½ effort. Walker, a junior college transfer from Seminole, and Odessa freshman Humphries set a new school indoor pole vault mark last week when they tied at 15-1.

Briggs and Self are a pair who have placed either first or second in the shot event each meet this season, but they will more than have their work cut out for them Saturday. Briggs and Self have both been throwing near the 52-foot mark, while OSU's Mike Marks and George Stevens have been near the 56-foot mark.

Saturday's meet will be the final home indoor event of the year for the Buffaloes. They compete the following week at Drake in the Missouri Valley Conference Indoor Championships.

Field events Saturday night start at 6:45 and the running events are slated to start at 7:30 p.m.

Admission Saturday is $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Scout Troop To Have Sale

Canyon Scout Troop 132, in existence here less than a year, will sponsor their first annual White Elephant and Farm Machinery Auction on March 16 and the boys are now looking for donated items to auction off.

Cary Magness, scoutmaster of the troop, said donated or consigned items are being sought currently. The troop is looking for garage-sale type merchandise such as furniture, appliances, dishes, sporting goods, toys, decorator items, antiques, lawn and garden equipment and farm machinery.

A reasonable commission will be charged on consigned items, Magness said.

He noted that donated items are tax deductible and a letter of value will be given donors.

Persons who wish to donate or consign items should call 655-2121 during the day or 655-3298 nights and weekends. Donations of merchandise will be picked up at the owner's convenience, Magness said.

The Scout troop, sponsored by the Canyon Noon Lions Club, plans to use the funds gained through the auction sale to purchase camping equipment.

The auction will be at the J.O. Parker Memorial Center.

WTSU Prof To Lecture At Sul Ross

Sands which will someday supply Panhandle cities with water will be one of two topics presented by Dr. George B. Asquith, at Sul Ross State University in Alpine today and Friday.

The West Texas State University geology professor will discuss "Sedimentation in Igneous Rocks," a subject on which he recently published an article.

The other talk is about "Triassic Braid Bars in the Texas Panhandle." According to Dr. Asquith, the contents of this talk will also be presented at the Geological Society of America meeting in Stillwater, Okla., in March.

"This paper is a spin off from my research on the Triassic sandstones of the Texas Panhandle financed by an organized research grant at WT," Dr. Asquith said.

At the present time, there are four cities in the Panhandle that use water from these sands "because they have deeper aquafers (waterbearing formations). It's more expensive, however," he said. "It has been used around the edge of the Panhandle, but closer to the central part, the water gets too salty. The sands are very irregular, some thick, some thin, and that's why I'm studying their geologic history," Dr. Asquith commented.
